PHHS students gather around for a cute shot at homecoming. Nothings better then singing and dancing with some of your closest friends.

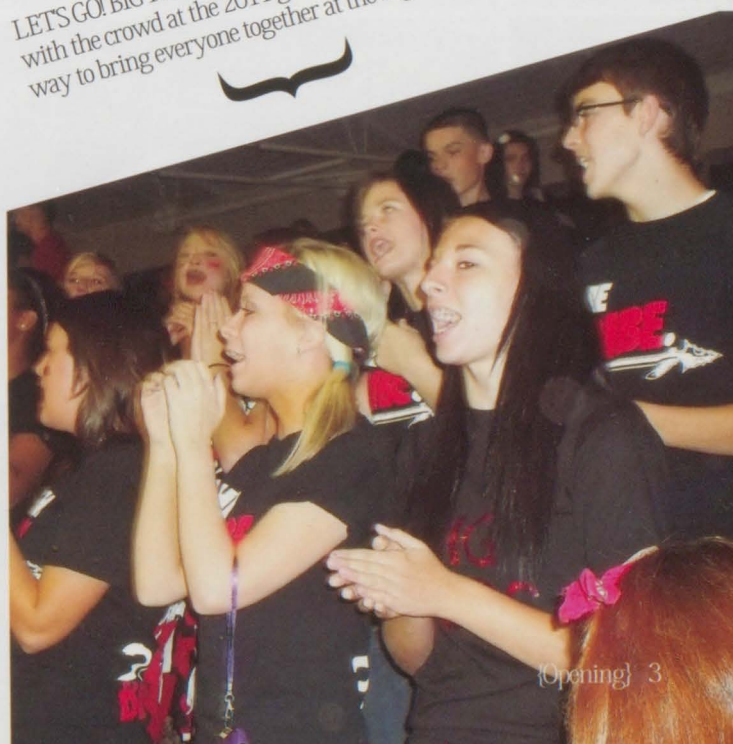

Taking a break from the core classes, some students enjoyed making pottery in their ceramic class.

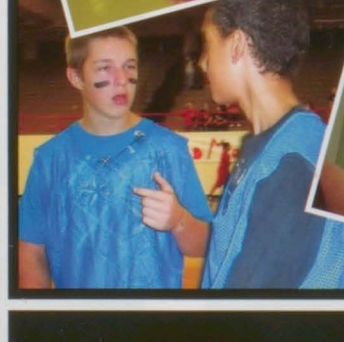

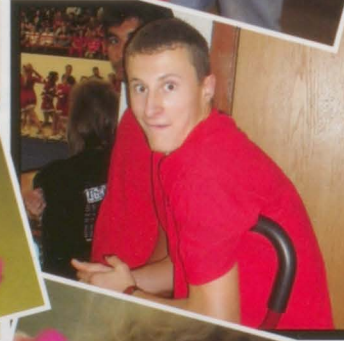

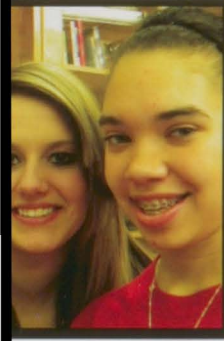

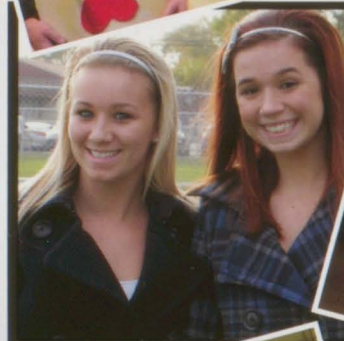

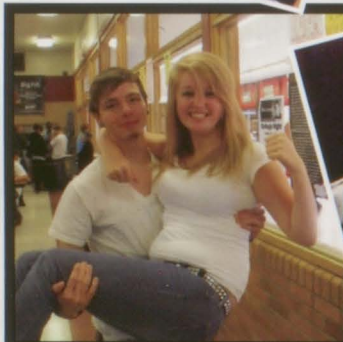

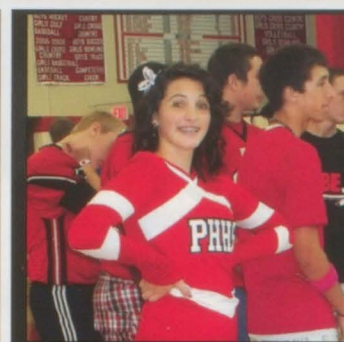

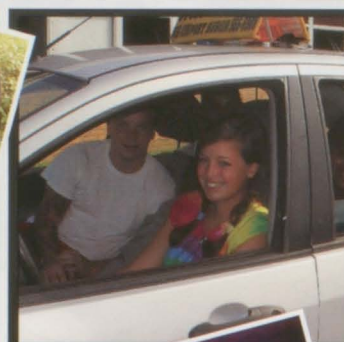

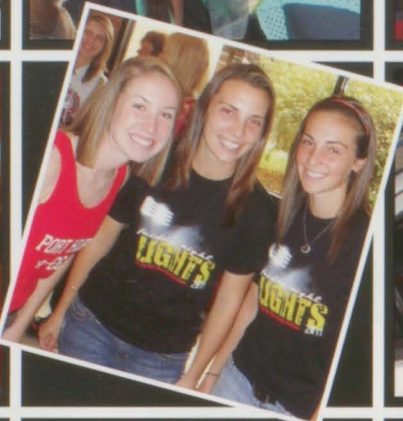

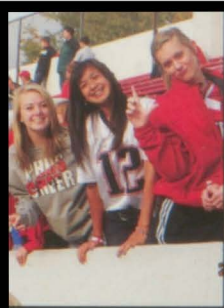

From dancing at Homecoming to cheering sports events, Port Huron High School is NOT a boring place to be. This year students enjoyed things like the International and Homecoming parades, games assemblies to celebrate the seasons and not to mention all the football games! Who could forget freezing in the stands as we all shouted and cheered our boys to work their very best to bring put PH into the history books. Another good memory was the leadership class' entertaining events at all three lunches. Mrs. Kindle's class got together and planned different events like pie eating contest, dances, and games for students to get up and participate with at lunch. Oh, and don't forget about when your brave classmates participated in The History of Rock ' N' Roll or PH Idol. But don't let us keep reminding you, this year's edition of The Student was planned to make sure you keep all those precious memories for years to come. Go check out all the events that we recounted here for you and see what you remember!

Pictures, books, lockers, ID cards, PHEW! Registration is a HUGE event. Good thing all our friends are there to make up for all the stuff you have to do before school even starts.

LET'S GO! BIG REDS! The Junior Class of 2013 cheers on with the crowd at the 2011 games assembly. What a great way to bring everyone together at the beginning of the year.

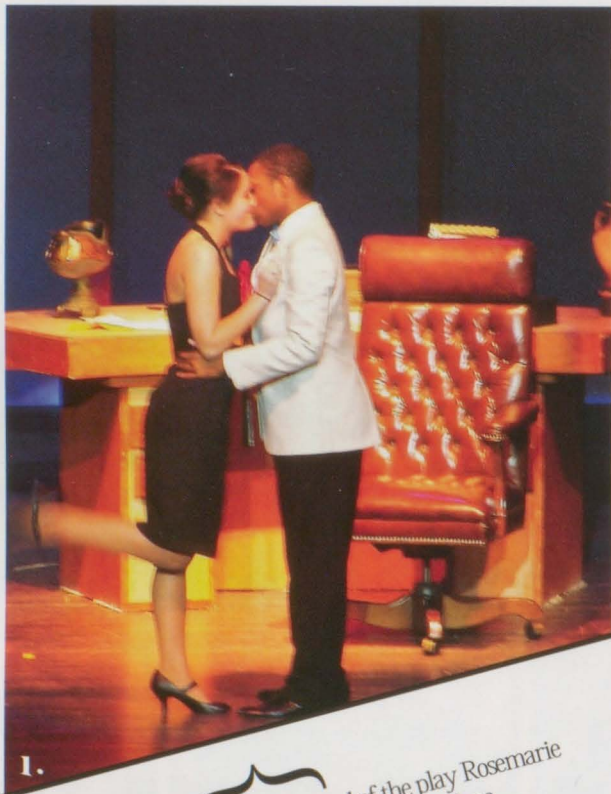

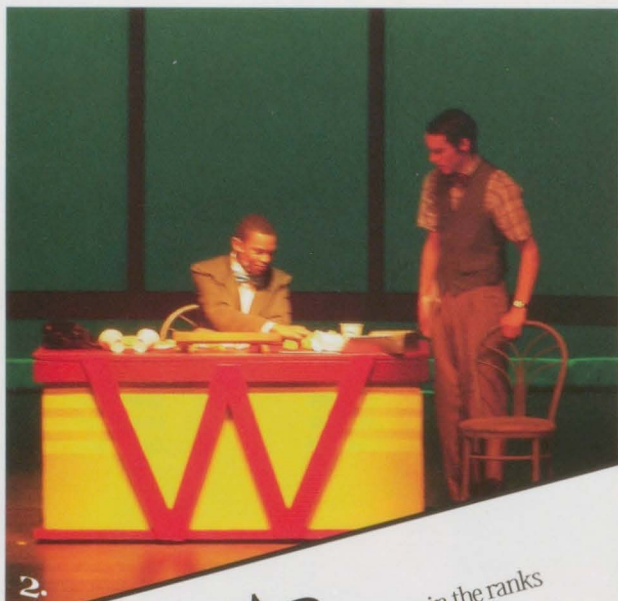

STUDENT LIFE:

It's all about the people.

ON WITH The Show

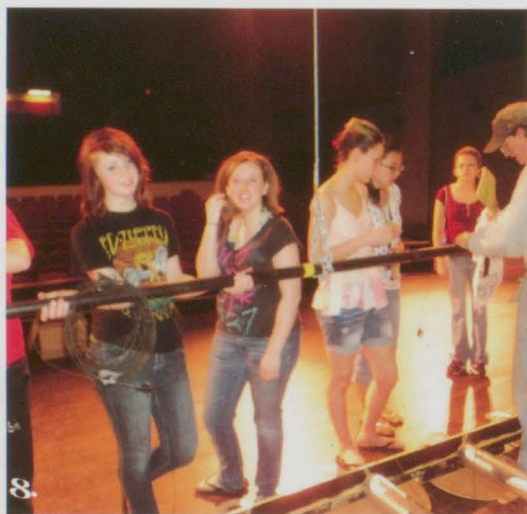

1. I Believe in you!!! Nearing the end of the play Rosemarie (Pionk '12) and Finch (Burrell '12) pucker up for a heartwarming smooch as the crowd cheered them on.

2. "J Peirpont Finch's Office" As Finch moved up in the ranks at the World Wide Wicket company he picks up one of his first offices and is visited by another worker.

3. No coffee? Oh no, An offices worst nightmare! The cast wonders what there going to do without coffee on their coffee break!

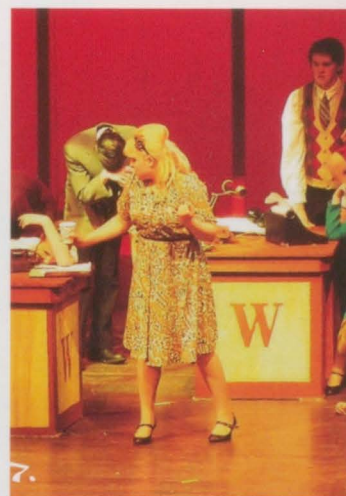

4. The cast of How to Succeed gives us one last, big, smile for the team photo making a great memory. Congratulations to the entire cast You all pulled off an amazing play.

5. "I've gotta stop that man!" Sang the business men about Mr. Finch who has been taking over the company. They all shaved up before heading back to the office.

6. TaDa! The World Wide Wicket treasure girls finished up their dance. They were trying to help sell the idea of a treasure hunt, a marketing idea by Mr. J. Pierpont Finch.

7. Another busy day at the office! All of the Secretaries run around like chickens with their heads cut off trying to get everything done before their coffee break.

8. Smile ladies! The cast worked hard behind the scenes of the play. Everyone spent many long nights in the PAC either practicing their lines or working on the set.

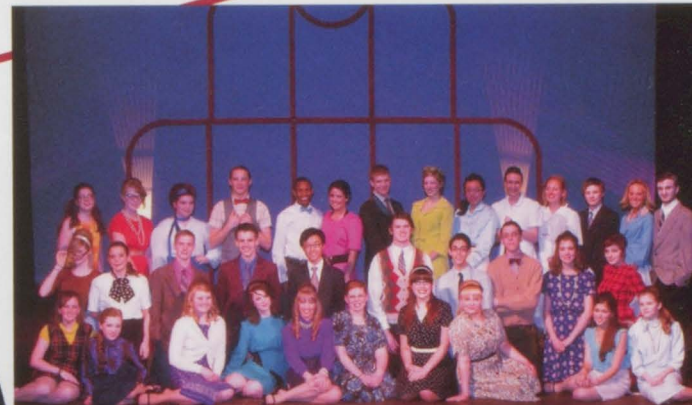

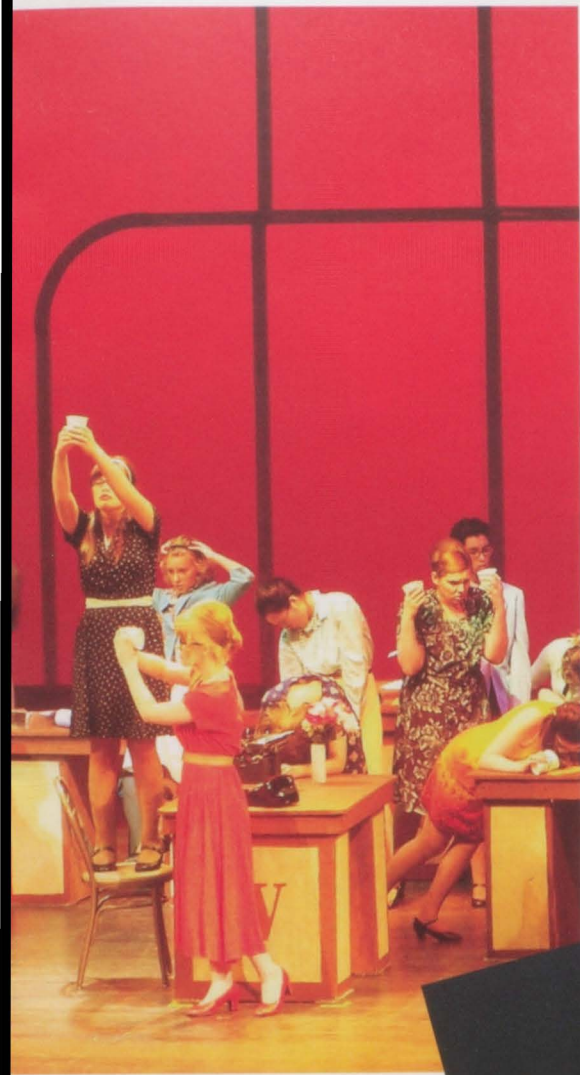

7.

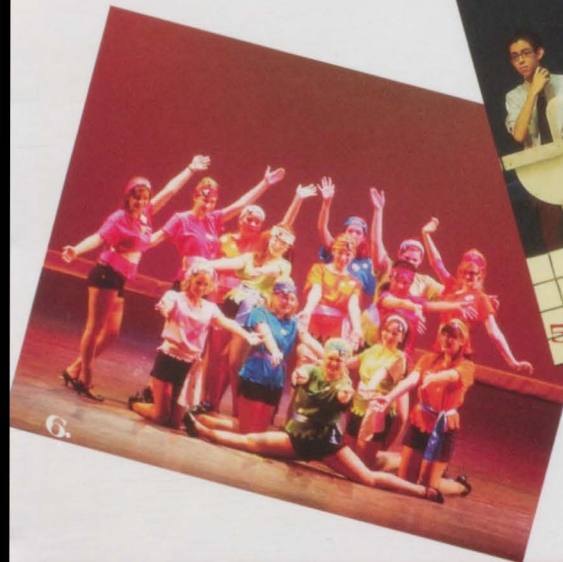

How to Succeed in Business

Last spring the Drama Club graced the PAC stage with How to Succeed in Business without Really Trying. This prize-winning comedy was written by Willie Gilbert and Jack Weinstock and the life of Pierpont Finch, an ambitious window-washer, and his rise to the top of the corporate ladder. Along the way he makes friends, enemies and a couple of love interests. Ryon Burrell '12 and Carmen Pionk '11 played J. Pierpont Finch and Rosemary Pilkington, the male and female leads. Zachary Pashenee '12 took the role of J.B. Biggley, the President of World Wide Wickets and the less than proud uncle of Bud Frump (Scott Lusk '11), an under-achieving and over-caffeinated executive hopeful and Finch's rival. LeeAnn Lum '12 played Hedy LaRue, the attractive girl with big dreams and a small brain. Smitty (Kayla Flanagan '11), Rosemary's best friend and fellow secretary provided support and comic relief. The cast sang and danced to the lyrics and music of Frank Loesser. Jeremy McClellan directed the show while sibling duo Aaron and Anna Lee Smith worked on vocals and choreographed show.

"After all the songs were sung, and the costumes were hung there was a mix of emotions. Relief and happiness that the shows went so well but also a sense of gloom as the cast said goodbye to the seniors but as always the show must go on."
-Ryon Burrell '12

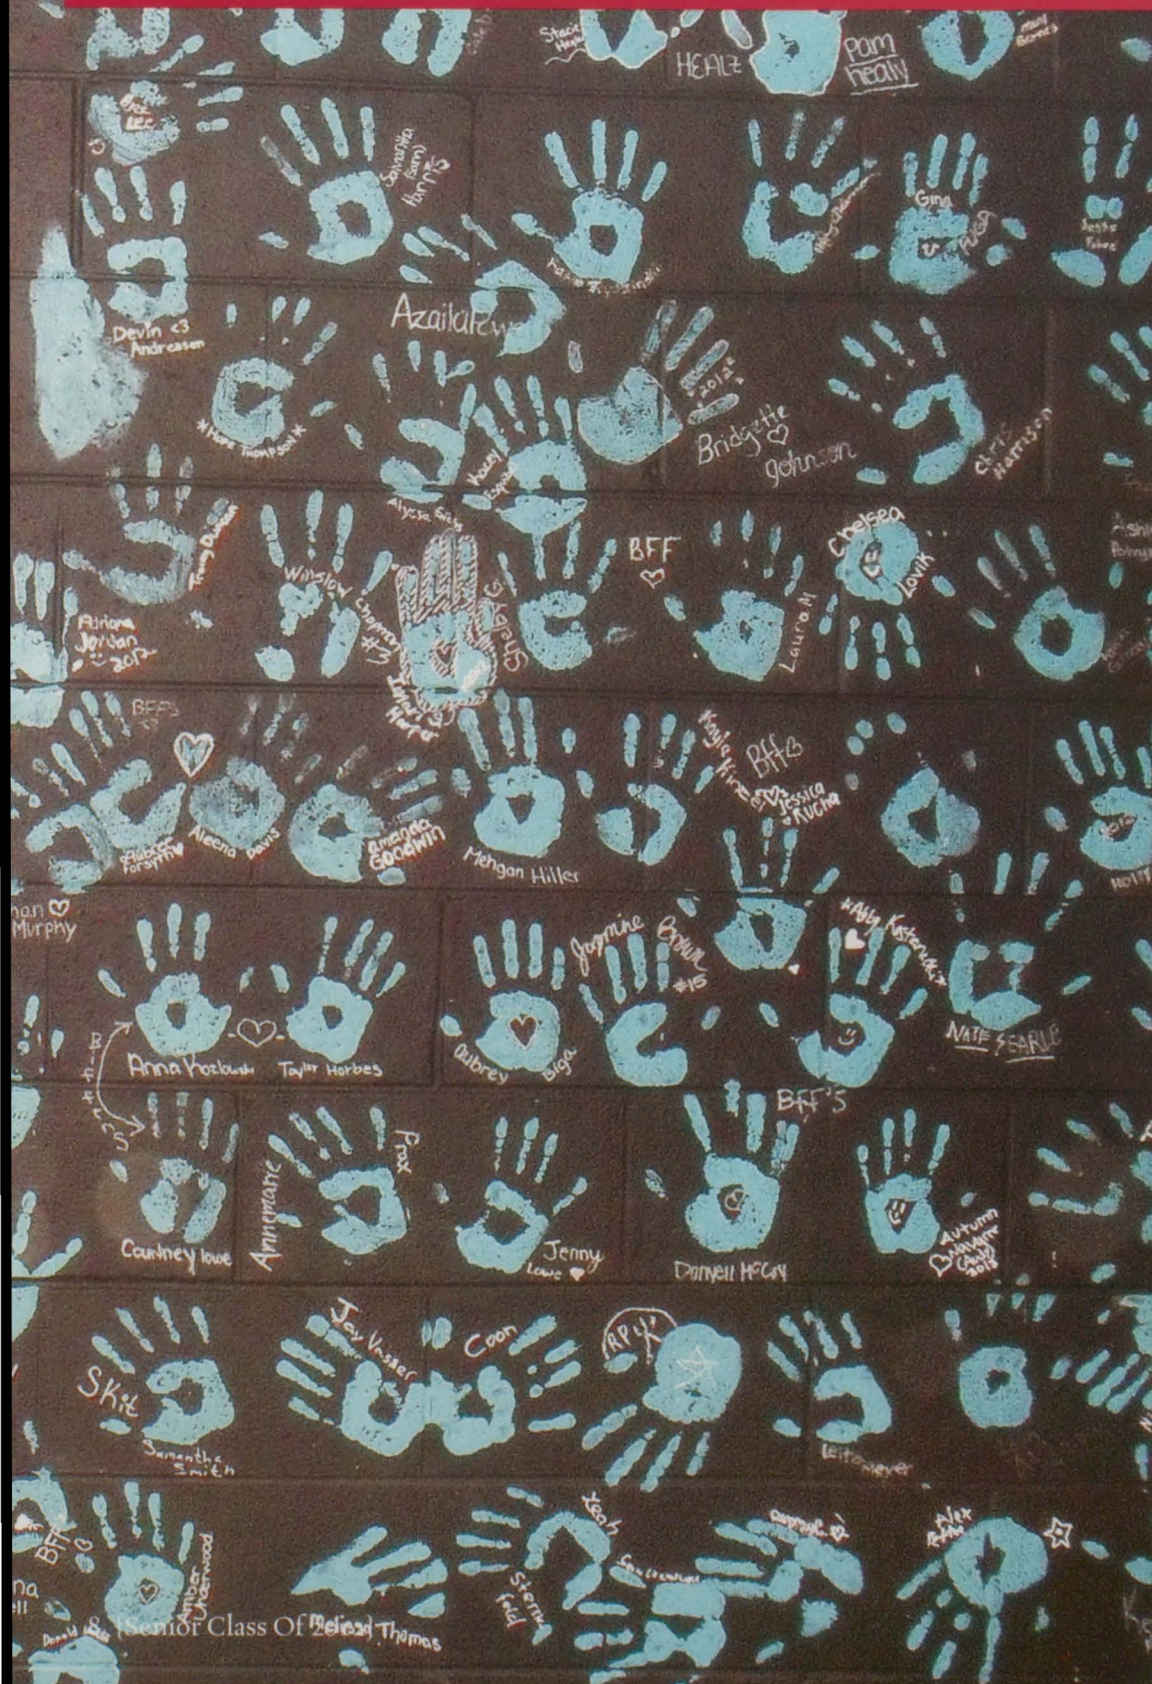

What was their favorite part of the show?

"Hanging out with the cast and getting to know the upperclassmen."
-Jeffrey Langolf '14
(Mr. Gatch)

"I liked the song
The Brotherhood of Man!"

THE CLASS OF 2012

RAHS

Story by: Danna Sorrell and Amber Underwood

The last four years really seemed to drag on until just this last year. Then, things really started flying for the seniors. Some felt the tears start to swell in their eyes. Others started to feel like cheering. Most couldn't believe it was really over.

Senioritis was definitely contagious — even the juniors seemed to be catching it from the seniors. As the seniors filled out the forms for their caps and gowns, it was just the beginning of the madness.

Looking back, the Class of 2012 started its freshmen year with Kaleb Fulk as President, Courtney Weiss as Vice President, Kaitlyn Jones as Secretary, Desiree Carroll as Treasurer and Elizabeth Turpin as Historian.

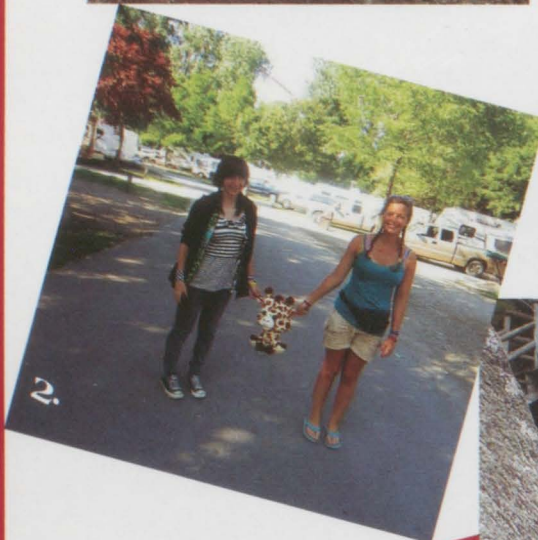

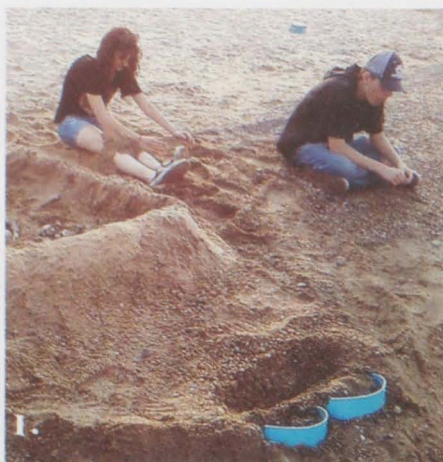

In their sophomore year, Kaleb Fulk was President once again, Courtney Weiss was V.P., Desiree Carroll was Treasurer with Donyell McCoy, Steven Jones was Secretary, and Ryon Burrell and Leah Eryer were class historians.

During junior year, the class officers were Hayley Alderman Wuchte as President, Courtney Weiss as Vice President, Marissa Williams as Secretary, Emily Biltzinger as Treasurer, Ryon Burrell as Historian, Aubrey Biga as Spirit Supervisor and Erin Sterling as Senior Activities Advisor.

Finally the senior class officers were ready to lead the class of 2012 in the class chant for one of their final times as high school students. The officers were Hayley Alderman Wuchte, president, Erin Sterling, vice president, Nathaniel Frasier, treasurer, Emily Biltzinger and Ryon Burrell, historians, and Aubrey Biga, spirit supervisor.

And as they head out those doors, where ever they travel, these seniors know they will always be Big Reds!

AROUND the World

ARE WE THERE YET?

Many students like to get away from everything. Vacations give students relief from the stress of grades or sports, and offer a chance to relax and just get away from things.

While most students and their families don't even leave the state for vacation, sophomore Aliya Spotts traveled to Paris, France, with her family. Aliya visited some of the most famous tourist sites in the world, including the Eiffel Tower and the Louvre Museum.

Of course, there are many places to go in the US. Shianna Fenner '14 visited her father in Washington, DC in November. "Washington DC gets you back down to your roots in American history," she explained. "I went to spend time with my family and learn about our country." Shianna said that besides visiting some of the cool sites in the nation's capital, one of the best parts of her trip was eating a cotton candy cupcake.

Joshua Paul '14 convinced his teachers it was okay to take time off of school in the Fall to take a family trip. "I went to Vermont," he said, and his family went to the tourist attractions like state parks. "We also visited some distant relatives on our way home." His favorite part about the trip was Lost River Gorge, he said. "It's a state park where you go through caves and hike up the gorge," he explained.

We all know, any vacation is a good one!

1. Even seniors enjoy playing in the sand. Annemarie Prax and Alexander Olson build sand castles on the beach during their summer vacation.

2. Sarah Macumber '14 and Katlyn Sienkiewicz '14 hang out with their new friend "Melvin" while camping at the Cedar Point campground.

3. Aliya Spotts '14 was lucky enough to go to Paris where she visited some of the world's most famous landmarks such as the Eiffel Tower.

4. Sophomore Joshua Paul and his family visited the Lost River Gorge, one of the most breath-taking locations in the Vermont and New Hampshire areas.

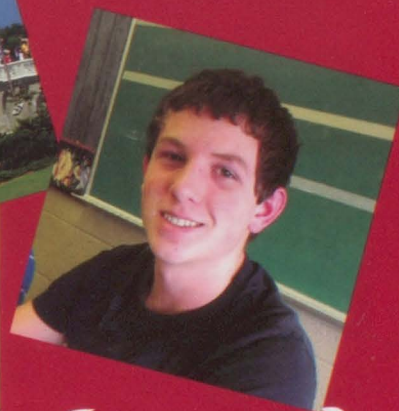

5. Mackinac Island is a favorite place in Michigan where many students like to visit during their summer vacation and enjoy the beautiful scenery – like this old cottage.

6. Chicago is another great vacation stop for PH students, and even some teachers. Just hop on Amtrak down the street and the city is just about seven hours away.

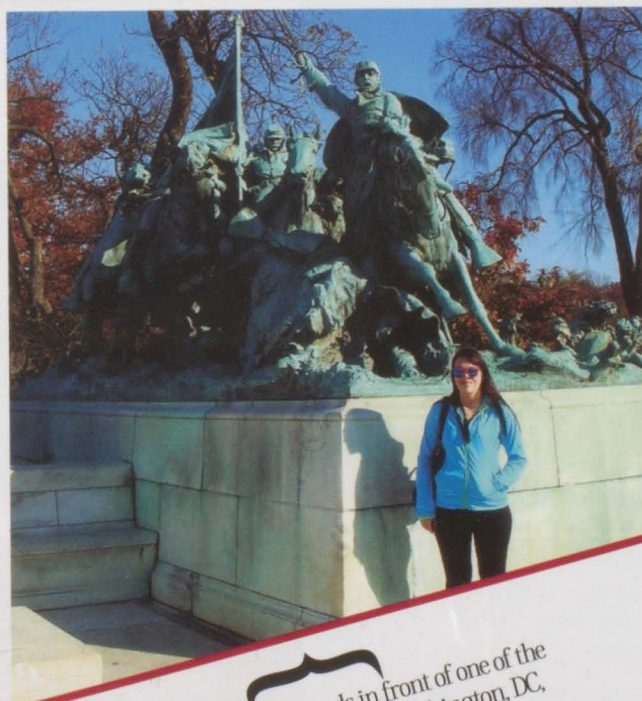

7. During Spring Break, the Big Red Marching Machine and several other students headed down to Florida to go to Walt Disney World's Magic Kingdom.

{ "I loved camping. It's so much fun especially when you're with friends."
-Sarah Macumber '14 }

{ "The mountains really were nice. It was nice to see family, too."
-Joshua Paul '14 }

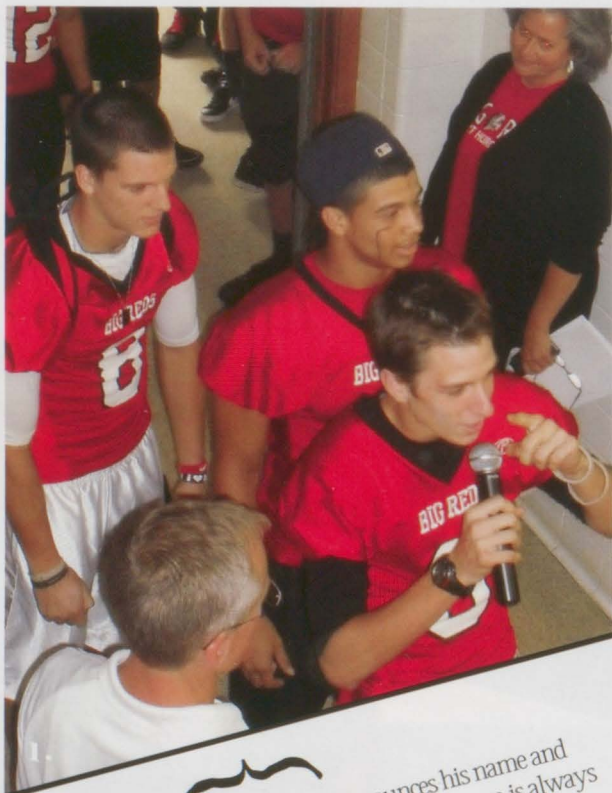

8. Aliya Spotts '14 poses in front of boats docked in the Sienne and one of the many famous bridges in Paris.

WE WILL Rock You!

1. Senior Zachary "Ziggy" Zmolik announces his name and position as he shows that the Big Red Football team is always ready for the big game!

2. The Big Red Varsity Cheerleaders welcomed out the football team with a loud welcome. Everyone was getting pumped up for the rivalry game!

3. On their feet, clapping, the Sophomore class showed that they had PH pride. Everyone was dressed, ready for the PH vs. PHN Game.

4. The saxophone section of the Big Red Marching Machine played Livin' on a Prayer by Bon Jovi for everyone to hear.

5. The boys Junior Varsity soccer team stood patiently in line for their turn to be recognized at pep assembly along with the other teams.

6. The freshman class of 2014 sat and cheered along as teams were represented and music was played at the assembly. It was their first taste of real Big Red pride!

7. The Big Red Marching Machine sat and waited to be called on to play at the assembly. In the mean time the BRMM cheered on their favorite teams.

8. The class of 2013 shows that they were pumped up for the game as the football team was announced, they all jumped to their feet to cheer them on.

9. Sophomores Alexis O'Hare and Breanna Hansen had on their big red attire for the big game later that night against the rival team Port Huron Northern.

GETTING PUMPED UP TO WIN!

Story by: Cheyenne Knight Photos by: Cheyenne Knight & Christopher Holdburg

For years there has been a cross-town rivalry between the Port Huron High School Big Reds and the Port Huron Northern Huskies. Port Huron High shows their Big Red spirit every year with their pep assembly. The class of 2012 showed their pride on the floor while the rest of the school was showing theirs by wearing red and white in the bleachers. At the beginning of the assembly, the classes showed their class spirit by saying their class chants, seeing who could be the loudest of the four classes. All of the fall sports teams were announced, including cross country, fall cheer, varsity football, equestrian, soccer, and the swim team. The band and the cheerleaders performed for the crowd. The cheerleaders danced to a combination of songs that they worked hard to learn for months prior to the pep rally. The band played "Sweet Child of Mine", "Livin' on a Prayer", and a mix of "Faithfully" and "Don't Stop Believing." The students were very active. Not only was the pep rally amazing, but we beat the Huskies later that night 42-16, winning the game and bragging rights! That's how it's done in Big Red Country!

"The Northern assembly is my favorite assembly of the year because it brings the school together while everyone gets ready for the biggest game of the season!"
-Meagan Johnson '14

"The PHN assembly really got the whole school pumped!"
-Justin Maxon '14

"The PHN assembly always gets the school ready for the game!"
-Nicholas Atkinson '13

HISTORY OF Rock 'N' Roll

Rockin' Out

Student council and Ms. McCaffrey got the wheels turning to get this show on the road. During all three lunches, Ms. McCaffrey's Performing Art classes and a few brave others went on stage, in costume, to perform some old rock 'n' roll favorites. Students took place singing their favorite songs, like "Ice Ice Baby", "Just Beat It", "You're The One That I Want", "Rolling On The River", "It's Tricky" and "We're Not Going To Take It". At the end of the show most of the audience went up towards the stage and danced to "The Cha Cha Slide". Bringing back this tradition, which was canceled the past few years, was a huge success because of everyone who was involved. "It was really super fun! I loved seeing everyone express themselves," said Taylor MacKenzie '14. "I never thought I would be a clone of Lacey Jacobs!" There were a few changes this year including moving to the lunch room from the gym. Also all the participants were students this year. Students involved did a great job and had everyone crowding the stage and cheering. All at the same time students brought back music history and in the process made history.

1. Seniors Jenal Ross and Austin Boughner dressed up in disguises and danced during Michael Jackson's 'Just Beat It' song.

2. After performing 'You're The One That I Want' by Danny (junior Brett Vanderpool) and Sandy (senior Lacey Jacobs) from Grease.

3. During the five minute break between the three lunches, senior Garrett DeBell rocks out to "American Women" by The Guess Who, first released in January of 1970.

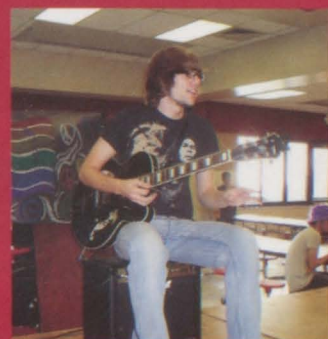

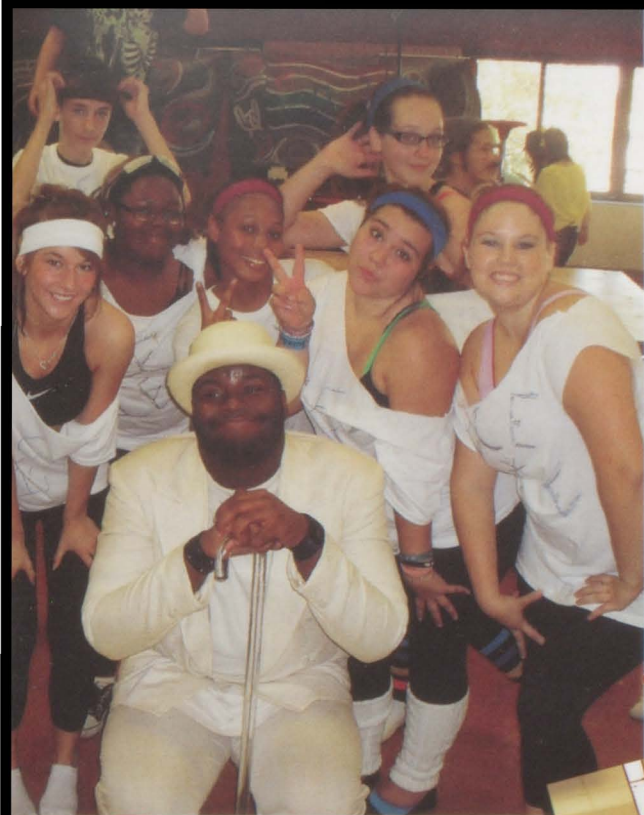

4. Sydni Sopha '12, Veronica Rapson '12, Annemarie Prax '12, Michael Sopha '13 and Jennifer Lowe '12 were dancing on the floor during 'Just Beat It'.

5. Senior Terrill Jones and some of his back-up dancers from 'Ice Ice Baby' by Vanilla.

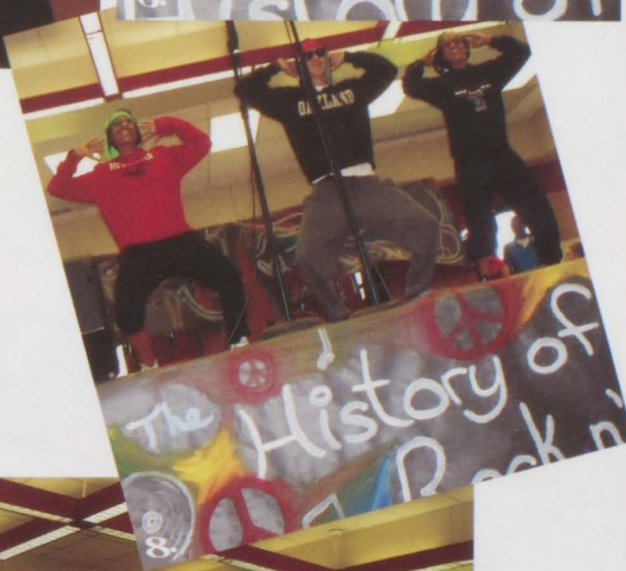

6. As Tina Turner, Alesondra Christmas '14, with her back up singers and dancers (Sundrena Binion '14, Amani Paulding '15 and Tiffany Jackson '14) preformed Rolling On The River.

7. Taking off his jacket, Travis Burgos '12 was pretending to be Michael Jackson as he preformed 'Just Beat It'.

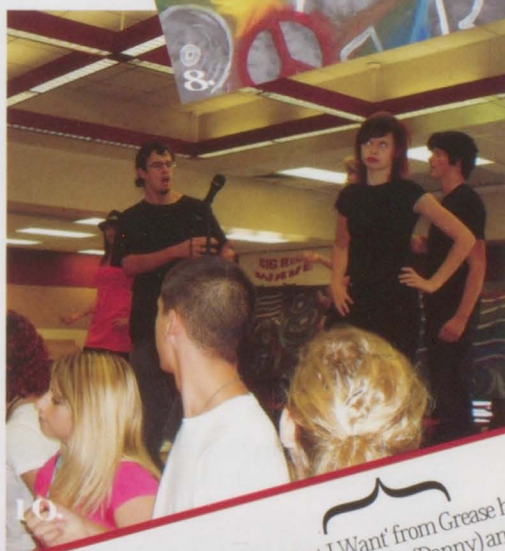

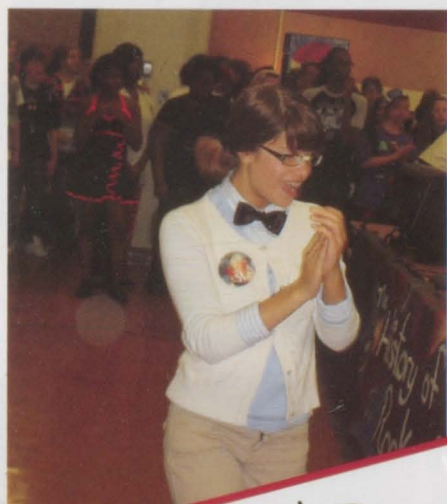

8. 'It's Tricky' was done by senior Zachary Zmolik and sophomores Gabrielle Crews and Tianna Jones.

{ "It was a very groovy time and a great gig."
-Jonathan Gaffney '12 }

{ "It was a neat way to bring students together ... and bring positive energy to the school."
-Alexander Zomlik '12 }

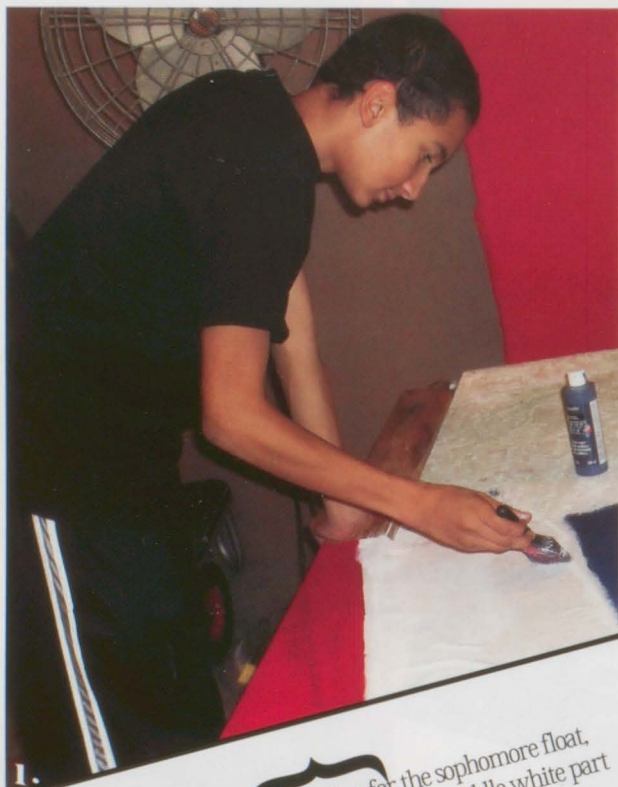

10. 'You're The One That I Want' from Grease had two Dannys and Sandys. Jermy Collins (Danny) and Taylor Mackenize (Sandy).

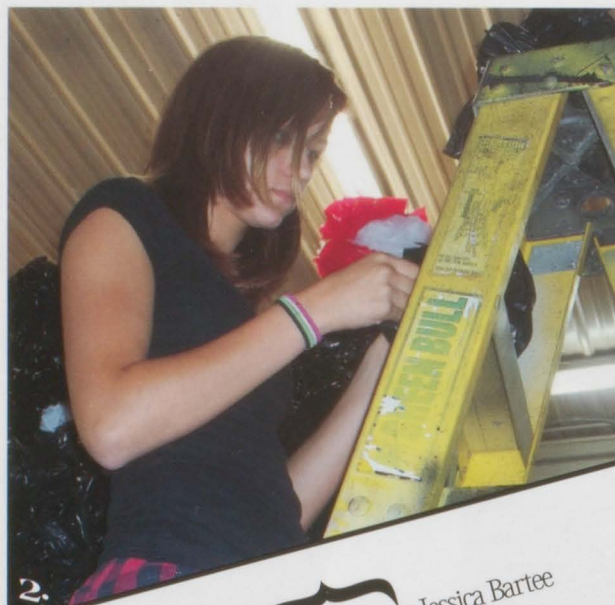

{ "It was really fun getting out of class to do this"
-Sydney Wolfe '15 }

9. Senior Stacey Jacobs danced out in front of the stage with the audience for 'We're Not Gonna Take It' by Twisted Sister.

RED AND White Streets

1. While painting the France flag for the sophomore float, Malcolm Rogers '14 helped paint the middle white part on France's flag.

2. Trying to get up to hard to reach places, Jessica Bartee '13 climbs high up on the ladder to finish PePe Le Pew on the juniors float.

3. This years winning float was the class of 2013. They threw a skunk over the post to call it "skunk the Blue Devils"

4. The freshmen's homecoming court, Kasey Forton, Collin Vani and Jaycee Burns ride through the parade downtown and smile at the crowd.

5. The tasty snails the senior class made on their float, inched their way towards Port Huron's downtown streets.

6. The 2013's winning float sprays its smelly steam to impress not only their classmates, but the judges also.

7. The class of 2015 held their signs and showed off their school spirit while waiting anxiously for the big parade to start.

8. The sophomores worked hard on their float of Le Pont Neuf Bridge, which resulted in them coming in second place for their float.

9. Filled with PH school sprit, foreign exchange students, Leah Sternfeld and Navapa Varapark waved to the spectators with fellow Big Red, Casey Patterson '12.

Big Reds Come Marching In

Story and photos by: Shianna Fenner

When the Big Red's "fight song" started to fill your ear drums you knew that it was Port Huron High's homecoming parade! Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson elementary students watched the high school students cheered and showed off their spirit.

With the theme 'A Night in Paris' people began thinking, what is a typical night in Paris? Seniors thought snails. Their bug-eyed snails on a gourmet plate weren't only cute but the idea earned them second place. Juniors came up with the stinky idea of PePe Le Pew that spewed out steam to give it a more realistic effect. Pepe's little friend went right over the goal post for first place. Then there was the sophomore float which included the Le Pont Neuf Bridge and a beautiful back drop of the city waking up, however, they got points deducted for spelling sophomores wrong on the back drop. They still tied for second place. Sadly this year freshman didn't have an advisor and couldn't make a float but that didn't stop them from participating. They made signs and kept the spectators pumped up and ready for the Big Reds vs. Grosse Pointe South High School's Blue Devils homecoming football game.

"Coming together is a beginning. Keeping together is progress. Working together is success."
-Henry Ford

"Sophomores, We're better than how we spelled it!"
Allison Vollmar '14

THE WINNER takes it all

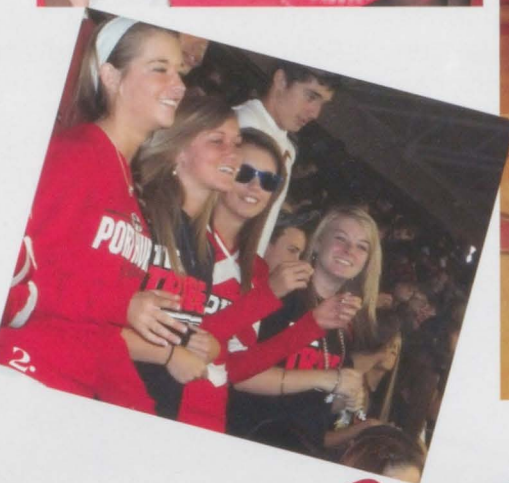

Let the games begin!

Story by: Ravenn Miranda

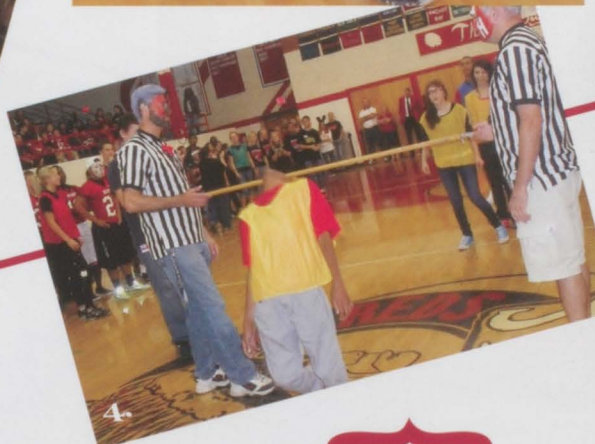

With the class chant that broke the tie between the seniors and juniors, the class of 2012 took over first place but the juniors weren't far behind. The games assembly was an epic battle for the seniors and juniors as they fought rigid for the winning place. The obstacle course was the start of the assembly and all the classes worked hard with their teams. The seniors took first for this event too. The next event pulled into place was the tug-a-war, a classic event that shows much teamwork and grand strength. The juniors vs. freshman were up first and the juniors won that round. Next came the seniors vs. sophomores, which the sophomores won due to disqualification of the seniors. The limbo competition was up after that which the students showed tons of determination, and in the end juniors won that game. The French fry eating competition proved to be a sloppy but a total challenge where the seniors proved they were the best at eating fries. At the end of the assembly, the seniors won with 23 points, juniors 22, sophomores 14 and the came freshman in last place with 8 points.

"The games assembly is a great way to get students pumped up for the game."
-Daniel Cook '13

1. Cheering on their fellow junior classmates in determination to win the games assembly, are Daneisha McClarty, Arica-Rae Apsey and Tyler Phillips.

2. Sophomore Spirit! Katelyn Kinzel, Breanna Hansen, Alexis O'Hare and Kelly Thompson cheered along with the other sophomores to show their spirit for the class of 2014.

3. Trying their absolute hardest in the tug-a-war contest is Courtney Corby, Tyler Vanbuskirk, Heather Weiss and Cody Desero with the other seniors playing.

4. As the newbies of the school, the freshmen participated in the games assembly for their first time playing in the traditional limbo contest.

5. How low can she go? Laura McKenna '12 tests her flexibility in the limbo contest. Determined to win she makes it through as one of the top 4 remaining people.

6. Megan Robbins, Cody Porter and Billy Kester with the rest of the junior team give their best to get the flag on their side in the tug-a-war competition.

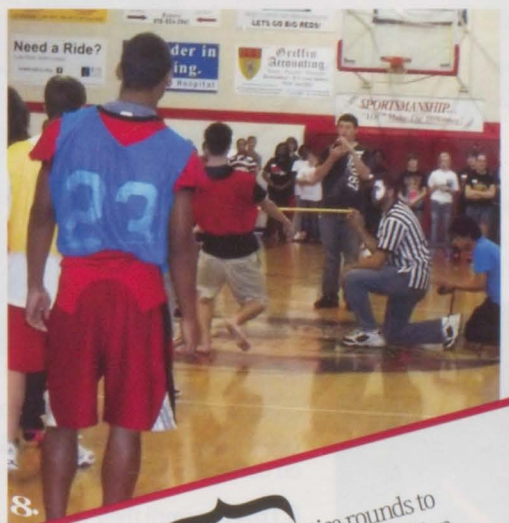

7. More ketchup please! In the "French fry eating" contest, Jestine Duncan '13, Madison Ledbetter '14 and Douglas Young '13 are filling their stomachs.

"The games assembly is a good way to show school spirit and have an awesome time doing it."
-Cheyenne Comeau '13

"The game assembly was a bitter sweet memory because it was an exciting time but also my last."
-Casey Patterson '12

9. The Seniors showed much school spirit with their 2012's beautiful class banner to encourage their team members as it was their last year here.

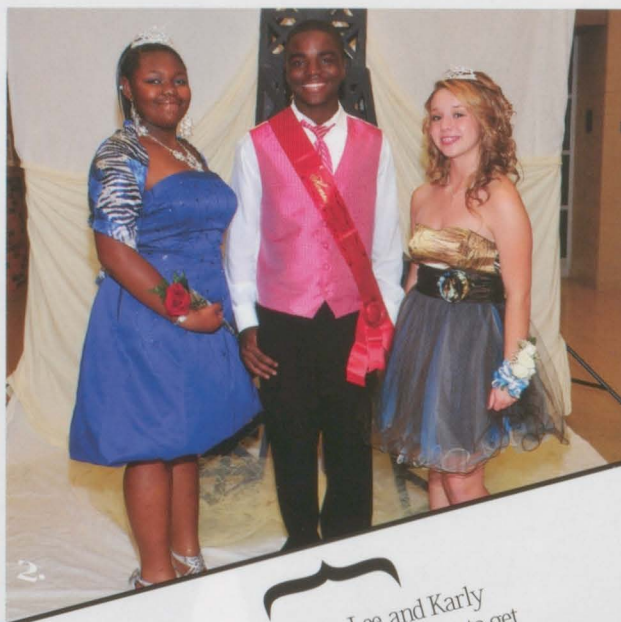

8. The seniors and sophomores did practice rounds to get prepared to start the traditional limbo competition. Which the juniors later won.

"The games assembly was a fun way to get kids to participate in school activities and show school spirit too."
-Micheal Ross '15

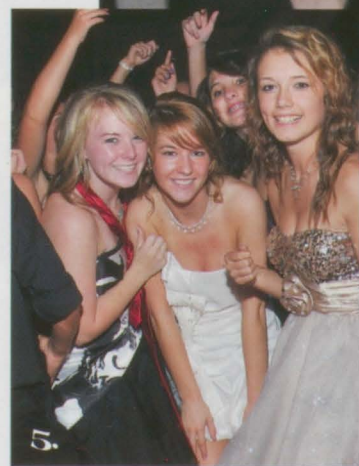

UNDER THE LIGHTS We Danced

1. On the night of the Homecoming Dance, the king and queen, seniors Kyle Moran and Stacey Jacobs wore their matching Green Bay attire.

2. Juniors Breanna Henderson, Adrien Lee, and Karly Schrader of the Homecoming Court stood together to get their picture taken by the Eiffel Tower in Paris.

3. The students danced the night away with their friends and dates. When songs like "Cha Cha Slide" and "Cupid Shuffle" came on everyone ran to dance floor to participate.

4. Nickolas Pringle '14, Mackenzie Carter '14, Julia VanHuylenbrouck '14, and Michael Sprag '15 took a break at the punch bowl in the cafeteria.

5. Sophomore girls Kelly Thomson, Katelyn Kinzel, Ashley Pratt, and Alexis O'Hare partied with their friends on the dance floor.

6. Dancing until their feet hurt and arms burned was what the students of Port Huron High did on Homecoming night.

7. In the cafeteria Emily Klebba '13 and her date Tyler Rowbotham '12 sat peacefully talking about the amazing night they had.

8. Sydney Grygorcewicz '15 and her friends enjoyed their dinner at Applebee's before they arrived at the Homecoming Dance.

9. Freshmen Devan Stephens danced with his date Princess Kasey Forton to a slow song.

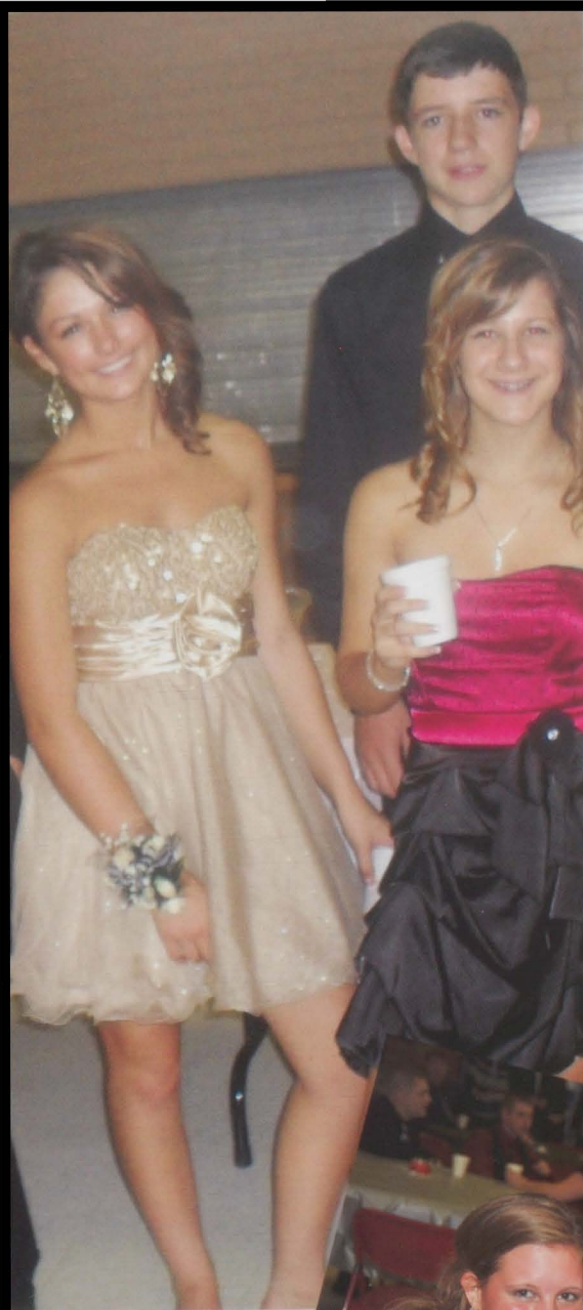

A Night Celebrated In Paris

Story by: Kaylyn Stephens and Brittany Walker

Homecoming was the night that most of us looked forward to. "Is my makeup smeared?", "Does my breath smell alright?", and "Did you hear who asked me to homecoming?" were some of the most common questions asked on this amazing night. Homecoming was on October 8th, 2011 from 7:00 to 11:00 pm. White lights and stars covered the walls while people covered the dance floor dancing to songs like "The Cupid Shuffle" by Cupid, "Tonight Tonight" by Hot Chelle Rae and "Then" by Brad Paisley. Seniors Kyle Moran and Stacey Jacobs walked hand in hand and then danced together as king and queen in their matching attire of Green Bay.

When the night ended, everyone then talked about how awesome the dance was because they got to spend the night dancing, talking, and singing with many of their best friends and dates. Homecoming ended and everyone left with a smile on their face.

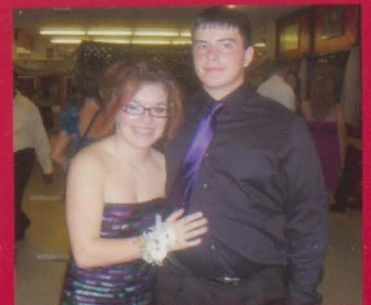

"Let us read and let us dance - two amusements that will never do any harm to the world." - Voltaire.

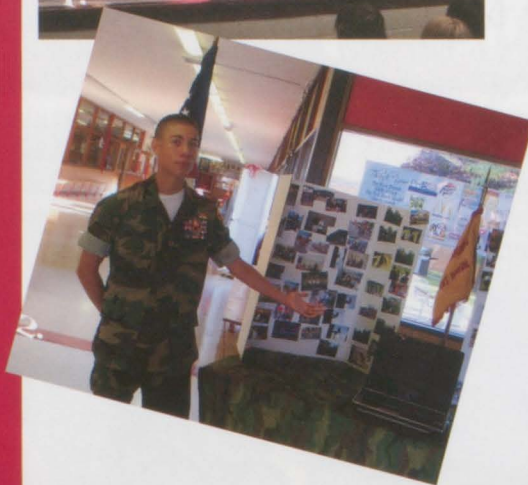

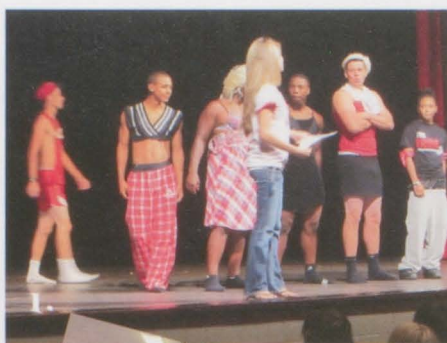

"I really liked the decorations, like the Eiffel Tower."

They call it "The Wave." The Big Red Wave was created in 2007-2008, and is now a tradition at Port Huron High School, to make the incoming freshman feel welcome and help them adjust to the big transition from middle school to high school. The Big Red Waveknown was composed of officers, mentors, supervising teachers, and of course, the freshman. Every year we set up lunch and activities for the freshman, said Mrs. Jody Catalanotte who helped with The Wave.

The day started off with the mentors arriving early to set up "homerooms," where the freshman reported to at 7:37 am, the start time of a regular school day.

In their homerooms, the freshman filled out forms, turned in their green cards, and received T-shirt forms. After all forms were filled out and turned in, the mentors then lead their groups to the designated activities for the day. Students were given a tour of the building, stopped in the media center to get their lockers and books, and visited the teen health center. They had lunch prepared by some of our administrators, watched a skit involving mentors, and a fashion show about inappropriate and appropriate clothing. Over all, the mentors tried to make sure that the freshman had a great day and they were prepared to become a Big Red.

1. Varsity football players, cheerleaders, band members, and other participants show freshman inappropriate attire in the "What Not To Wear" fashion show.

2. Senior Brandon Bergman gave out information to all the incoming freshmen who are interested into going into the Marine Corp.

3. After going through the opening presentation, the freshman also received their locker number and combination during the tour.

4. Filling out her Class of 2015 t-shirt form, Hannah Pizzo gets ready to start her tour of Port Huron High. The mentors in the room watched closely to make sure everything was getting done correctly.

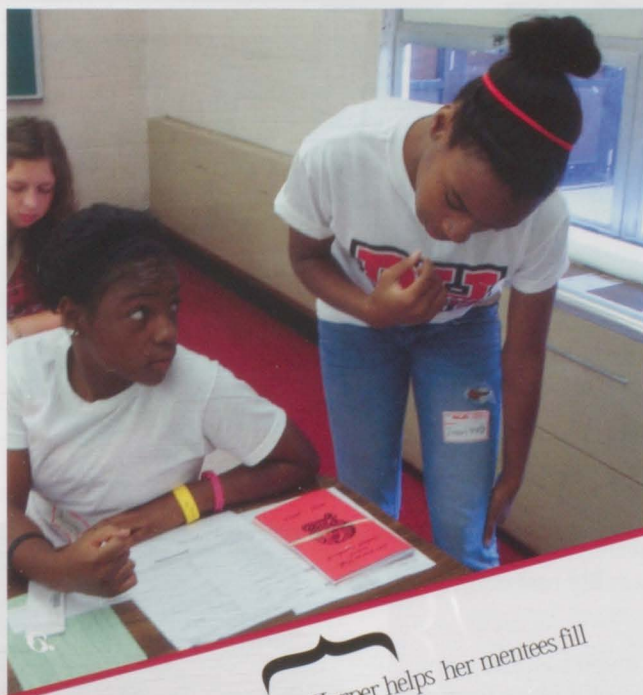

5. Ranging from sophomores to seniors, the Big Red Wave mentors volunteered their time and guidance to the freshman.

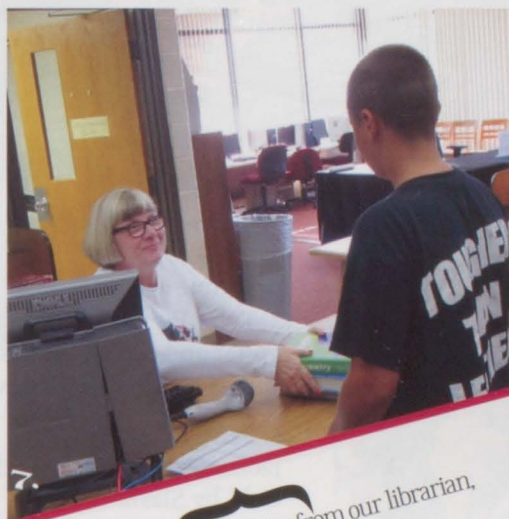

"I think it helps the Freshman know what to expect in high school, and it gets students involved."
-Skyler Hardy '13

"I liked it because I found out more information about the school."
-Jayme Hill '15

Christmas came to PHHS

Christmas is the time for giving, as was the theme for the Christmas assembly this year. Seniors Stacy Jacobs and Kyle Moran dressed as Mr. and Mrs. Clause, and handed out presents to unsuspecting students.

Opening for the assembly was the wind ensemble, and soon after, the choir sang cheery Christmas songs. The drama club preformed a funny parody of the 12 days of Christmas, which had everyone laughing.

The band The First Impression played two songs, written by themselves. The band consisted of senior Tyler Bieth as the lead singer and rhythm guitar, Shawn Garska '08 on bass guitar, juniors Anthony Garska on lead guitar, and Christopher Armstrong on the drums. Sophomore Tiffany Jackson sang "Back from Cali" by Slash for the final act. She was accompanied by senior Garrett Debell.

The assembly sent everyone off in great spirits for the holiday season.

"Playing for our school is the best feeling ever for us; we couldn't be any more happier."
-Anthony Garska '13

"It was a really great time and I enjoyed dressing up. It made me feel like I was a part of Santa's crew."
-Kimberly Drewery '14

"The drama club's skit with the fruit cake was the best part!"

Small Town Kids

With big stage aspirations

Make it simple, to last your whole life long

Story by: Chuckie Hawkins and Sandra Holloway

Many parents, teachers and classmates bought votes to help their favorite contestant move to the next round, and as a bonus helped fund the choir program at PHHS. Showing off their musical talents, contestants picked from a wide range of songs that best fit their vocal abilities. There was a large mixture of different genres of music, though; Pop and R&B were the favorite with many of the contestants. However, country was the favorite choice for this year's winner, Tiffany Jackson '14. "Life isn't about finding yourself, it's about creating yourself," she said.

This year's PH Idol started with 28 students, most of whom had done this before. Sheena Sersha, '13, first performed in PH

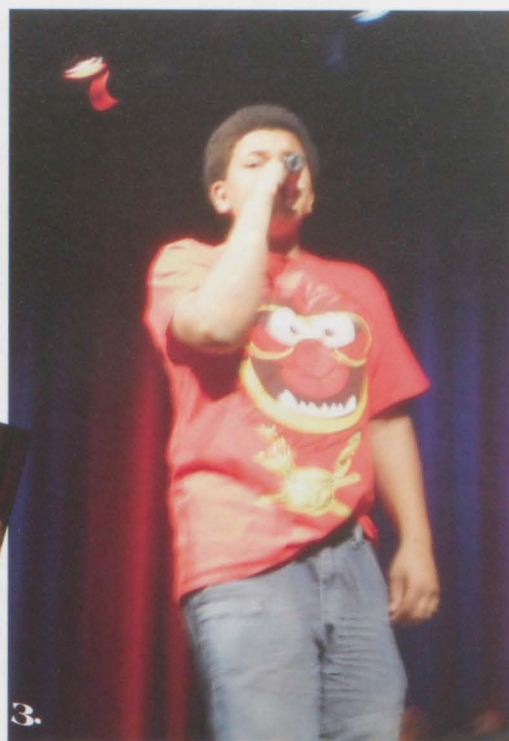

Idol when she was a freshman. "It is always nerve-racking, but at the same time it is enjoyable and fun," she said.

PH Idol is a creative way for students to break out of their regular routine and show everyone their hidden talents. By the way things look, next year should be the biggest year yet, as the program has become very popular lately among the younger students.

Mr. Terry Beasley, Choir and Guitar teacher, has directed the program for several years, and says it is a great fundraiser for the school. Mr. Wagner, an Assistant Principal and the Athletic Director at PH, also thinks it is a great program and a good way for students to break out.

"Keep this going every year."
-Garrett DeBell '12

1. Senior Garrett DeBell was one of the many musicians who provided the tunes for the performers. He played bass, acoustic and electric guitar.

2. Ashli Allen-Ramos, '13, keeps it up beat during the finals with pop hits "Forget You" by Cee Lo Green and country hits by Corbin Easton.

3. Joseph Smith, '15, was only freshman finalist this year. He sang "Grenade" and "Lazy Song" by Bruno Mars in the finals.

4. Jonathan Gaffeny, '12, provides the background music for finalist Raven Burkett, '13, as she sings Adele.

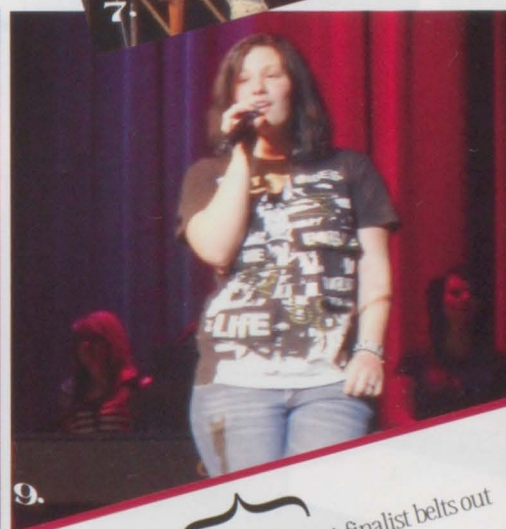

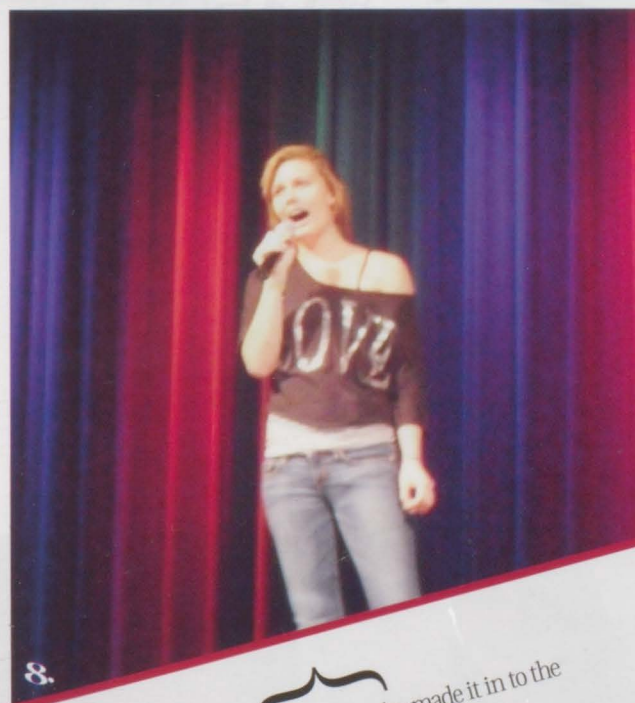

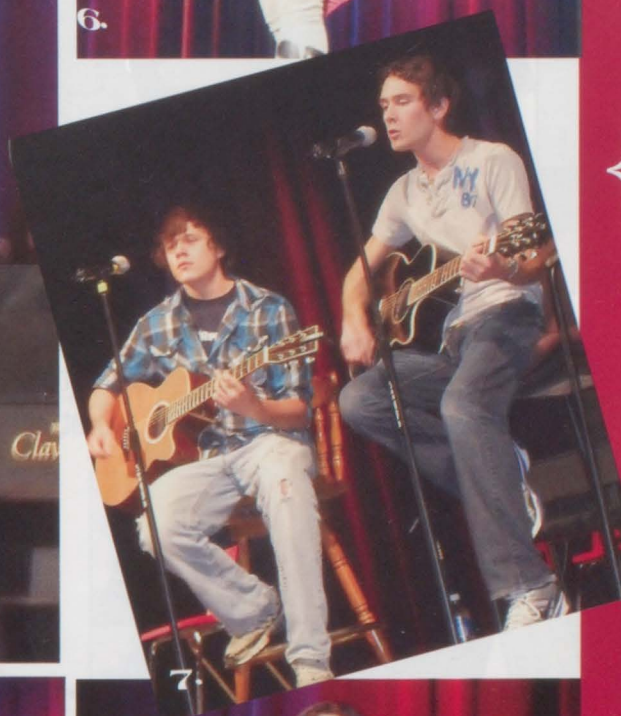

5. Showing off her musical abilities, Tiffany Jackson, '14, this year's winner, sang songs from Taylor Swift and Rascal Flatts. Congratulations on your win Tiffany.

6. Kylee Falk-Grant, '15, was the other freshman contestant. She made it to the 2nd round where she sang Britney Spears.

7. During the voting period, The First Impression rocked the stage. The First Impression included Anthony Garska '13, and Tyler Bieth '12.

PEOPLE:

It's who we are.

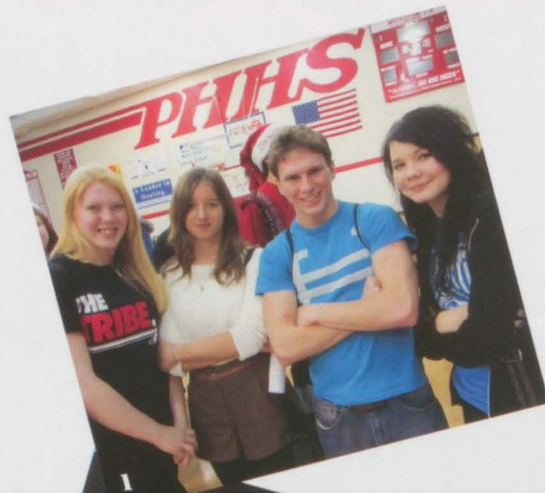

CLASS OF 2012

Story by: Jamie Walker Photos by: The Yearbook Staff

Congratulations Class of 2012! You made it though your senior year of high school. No matter where you go off to college, or what job you take, you will always have memories of Port Huron High – whether it is of the Varsity Football team's spectacular season, the slushies in the school store or bringing back the History of Rock 'N' Roll. Maybe it will be the day you painted your hand and placed it against the wall, and how you passed by it every day until graduation.

Senior Hayley Alderman-Wuchte was given the gavel to lead as president for the Class of 2012. Organizing senior year wasn't a piece of cake, but thankfully she wasn't alone. With the help of the class officers and class advisers Mrs. Catalanotte and Mrs. Mitchell, things were taken care of surprisingly smoothly.

Of course, the biggest events seniors looked forward to all year were the Prom in May and graduation day in June. But, you can't forget having to sell those Younker's booklets and the trash bags to raise money for the senior's all night party. These are just some of our memories of our senior year.

1. After the Christmas assembly, senior Sean Boyd and foreign exchange students, Oda Sandanger, Leah Sternfeld and Sanni Peltomaki smile for the camera.

2. One of the things every senior MUST do is put their handprint on the wall showing off their senior colors.

3. Being a senior means you get to stand on the floor during the assemblies. A few excited seniors posed for a photo after the senior class won the Games Assembly.

4. Getting pumped up during the game and being the proudest of the tribe, the seniors cheer on the football team for a victory.

Foreign Affairs

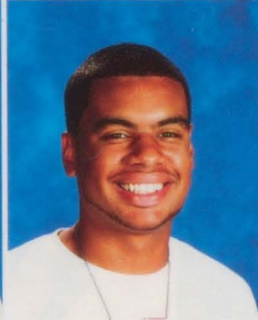

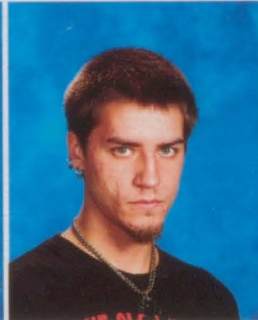

Experiencing life in a new country is a once in a life time opportunity. The five exchange students at PH left their family, friends, and home country behind to explore America. It was an opportunity for them to learn about our country's culture and also represent their own country. It was extremely difficult to leave their home country and to spend a whole year with a new family, to communicate in another language and adapt to a whole new life. However, the experiences taught them to be independent, responsible, face real life issues, and it was a great chance to make new friends. They have the opportunity to study in an American high school, and become involved in clubs and sport teams to immerse into the American culture. It was an experience that will be remembered for the rest of their life. In the end, all the struggles will make them stronger. "It's up to us, whether we build with the stones that have been put on our path, walls or bridges."

WE'RE THE BEST
AT WHAT WE DO,
WE'RE THE CLASS OF OH-ONE-TWO!

Congratulations seniors! The amazing class officers having been working so hard to making sure we are prepared for prom and the well known All Nighter Party! All year we have been doing fundraisers to save up money. Selling Hungry Howies Pizza Certificates, Younker Booklets, and other things, they also put on activities like Just Dance. So good luck Port Huron High Graduates! We are finally done with High School and now it is time to focus on college, the military or even your job.

*How quickly the years passed, Our Son
Seems like only yesterday we held you in our arms
Wanting to protect you from all harm
we have watched you grow
Proud of whom you have become
At times the reins held tight
Fearing for the unknown
The time has now come
For us to let you run...*

1. Jessica Bartee '11 demonstrated her flying skills before taking part in the "Walk." To entertain the crowd before they began the walk, stunts like this were performed.

2. Chuck Santoni (Q Country 107.1) prepared to be lifted onto the roof of the Birchwood Mall using the fire department's truck ladder. This scene was the ending point of the walk.

3. After crossing the finish line the cheerleaders assembled to take a group picture. Doing this walk was a great way for some of the girls on the JV and varsity teams to bond.

4. To get the crowd dancing our girls joined with the PHN Girl's Volleyball team. They lead everyone in the famous dance the "Cha-Cha Slide."

5. Sophomore Maddison Collinge trailed behind the leaders of the walk while munching on some delicious french fries provided by the fire department. It took her approximately 45 minutes to complete the route.

WALK FOR KIDS' SAKE

Child abuse? Our students at Port Huron High say "No more!" The PHHS cheerleaders participated in the "Walk for Kids' Sake" on September 18. The walk traveled from Lakeside Beach to Birchwood Mall and gave dozens of adults and children the opportunity to stand up against child abuse and make a change. The campaign's main event was the Birchwood Mall Roof Sit where WSAQ Disc Jockey Chuck Santoni "lived" on the roof of the mall for one week — rain or shine, and various people called in donations to support the cause. This was the event's 17th year fighting child abuse.

STEP ASIDE WHILE WE ROCK THE SCENE WE'RE THE CLASS OF 2013!

That's right class of 2013, you're upperclassman now! Time to start thinking about colleges, ACT's, getting credits, and saving up for prom. The class officers have worked their tails off fighting to make sure our class has what it needs for graduation. Selling t-shirts, chocolate-covered pretzels and anything else they could to save money for your class, the officers had a big job! Their most important job was to help keep the spirit up for the juniors and help them win first place in float building, and second in the games assembly! Graduation is just around the corner and the junior class officers did an amazing job keeping the class of 2013 on their feet and ahead of the game.

1. Junior Cierra Cates read questions off the test that determined if she was allowed to take her road test to get her driver's license.

2. Sarah Macumber '14 along with Christopher Grant '12 waited for Mr. Horne to get their driving and observation hours.

3. Driver's Training students concentrated hard while taking their segment two assessment before being able to get their license.

4. Sophomores Kelly Thomson and Breanna Hansen were showing off Mr. Horne's car before driving off onto the road.

5. While participating in segment two, a student listens quietly to a lecture from the instructors about the importance of safe driving.

THE ROAD TO FREEDOM

What does Drivers Training mean to you?

To us it means being closer to owning our freedom. Now, freedom costs $264 to have the experience everyone is talking about. Driver's training was provided by the Michigan Driving School and taught by Mr. Horne and Mr. Hernandez. Kelly Thomson '14 said, "Mr. Horne is cool, but he doesn't like it when you think the car is in reverse when it's really in drive and you almost make Speedy Q, a drive thru."

In segment one, students had to learn with the teacher for 24 hours – two hours Monday through Thursday for three weeks, six hours of driving with the instructor, and four hours of watching someone else in the class drive. Segment two was much shorter, students only had to learn for three days (two hours each day) and pay $35. After passing both, students were sent off to take their road tests and hopefully get their licenses. Every student knows, once you pass the road test, you get the card that says freedom all over it – your driver's license.

1. Freshmen Monica Taravella and Sarah Fulk continuously make more and more blood bags as the blood drive fills up with students!

2. The line kept getting longer and longer. More and more PHHS students were sitting and waiting for their turn to give blood and help someone in need.

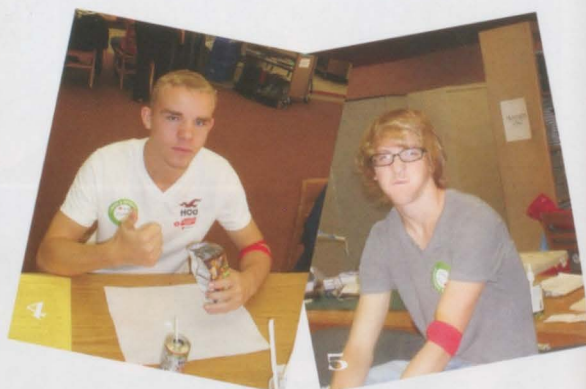

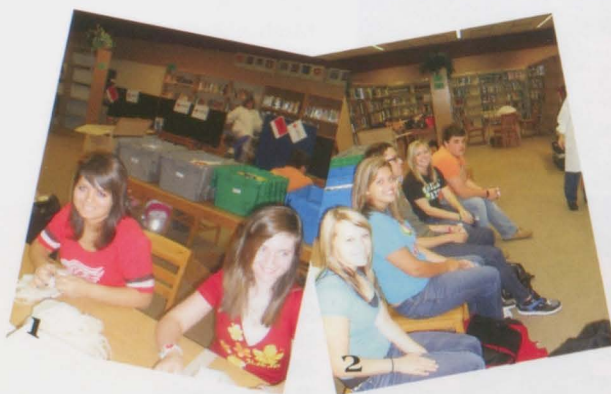

3. Check them out! Seniors Desire Carrol and Katherine Rydzinski proudly showed off their arms where they voluntarily gave blood to help save a life.

4. Yummy! Senior Adam Toton enjoyed some cookies and juice to restore his sugar after giving blood.

5. Taking a deep breath senior Mark Hubble maked sure he isn't too woozy to get over to the canteen table for his treats. Didn't want to pass out!

BLOOD DRIVE

Have you ever wondered what it's like to donate blood? Have you ever wondered why people actually donate blood? Donating blood helps save lives. A three-day supply is the optimum amount of blood needed at a time. Patients need blood every day of the year. Type-O negative blood is the universal blood type, it can go to anyone. The process of donating blood takes about an hour in total, but the actual collection process only takes roughly ten minutes. Roughly one pint of blood is taken each time. You can donate blood once every 56 days. The minimum age to donate blood is 16 with parental consent. So next time there's a blood drive, think about it!

2. Not only in charge of all the amazing props in the show, Ms. Mary Williamson had a part in the show! As Frank's waitress.

3. During the 10 minute intermission, Junior Abigail Elstermann touches up her make up before going back out on the stage.

4. Before the show begun, Sandra Holloway '12 stood by the door greeting and helping the audience find their seats during the midnight showing.

5. Assisting with props, sophomore Laura Sexton went through one of the many boxes making sure everything was in order.

Rocky Horror Picture Show first came out as a movie in 1975 and still today many people enjoy not only watching the movie, but seeing the play live. So for the third year in a row, Port Huron Civic Theatre put on The Rocky Horror Show during Halloween weekend, which was an audience participation musical. The show was only on stage for two days, but had three incredible shows. Most of the cast was adults, but that didn't stop a few of our Big Reds from joining them on, or back stage.

WE SPREAD OUR WINGS, NOW WATCH US SOAR WE'RE THE CLASS OF 2014

As sophomores, the class of 2014 was happy to no longer be at the bottom of the food chain. And this year, they tried to make as much money as possible for future events for their class. One of their first fundraisers of the year was the class t-shirt, the next big one was the Applebee's fundraiser where students dined at the restaurant and half of their check was donated to their class. Fundraisers kept the students busy throughout the year – they'll get used to it by their senior year! Just watch these students soar!

3. Wearing their beautiful purple costumes and with their crazy colored hair, junior Breanna Henderson and senior Bridgette Johnson were the pit singers.

4. Just follow the Yellow Brick Road and you would find sophomore Alesondra Christmas singing and dancing with the other yellow bricks.

5. Freshmen Paul Robison danced along as a crow to the song "I Was Born On The Day Before Yesterday."

THE WIZ

Every year the Port Huron Civic Theater presents a "Teen Show" where the show consists of all teens and children. Over the past summer PHCT put on The Wiz which is based on the L. Frank Baum classic The Wizard of Oz. This years show was dedicated to Kailey Langell to help prevent teen suicide. Some of our Big Reds chose to help out as actors on the stage or working behind the scenes to make sure the show went by smoothly. With a dazzling performance and green sparkles galore, the cast put forth an amazing show.

3. Seniors Danielle Wickings and Morgan Potts are super excited after getting a certificate of participation of the Fine Arts Festival for their entries.

4. Chaise Jawor '14 proudly shows off the hard work she put into the black and white drawing of a couple holding hands.

5. Certainly one of the largest pieces in the festival, Joshua Walerych '11, carefully moves his award winning art piece from the floor to a table so everyone could have a better look.

2011 FINE ARTS FESTIVAL

Every year at Port Huron High School, everyone gets excited for the Fine Arts Festival that has been a tradition for many years. Students work their hardest, and put all they have into their masterpieces of art. Students work all year for the festival which is held each spring. They put together their finest art pieces, best photography, most fascinating short stories, prettiest poetry, and clever digital media just for this festival. The pieces are displayed in the Performing Arts Center, critiqued by judges, and viewed by students, friends and family. The best of the best won prizes and students were awarded for participating.

Every year on Memorial Day weekend at Pine Grove Park along the St Clair River, the Port Huron Museum of Arts and History presents a live re-enactment of life as it was in St. Clair County during the 18th century. Former Port Huron High History Teacher Harry Burgess started the Festival with his wife, Rose – also a PH retiree. Port Huron High students have always been an important part of the Feast of the Ste. Claire and get involved by doing things like a puppet show, cooking food, or simply walking around to entertain the crowd. "It's fun walking around and seeing all your friends as they would look in the 1800s," said Cassie Smith '13. A Fencing team and Revolutionary War reenactment group also participated in the event.

1. Encore! Juniors Paige Precour(left) and Amanda Ellis (right) perform the puppet show for many of the visiting children!

2. Senior Sandra Holloway walks around talking to guests in her eighteenth century garb. Making the festives feel more real to the guests.

3. Goofing off at the stockades, Mrs. Williamson, better known as Security Mary, pondered the idea of bringing the stockades back to PHHS.

4. Senior Athena Thomas volunteered to mix the chicken stew at the Chicken Coup that guests were welcome to try!

5. Snacks galore. Sophomore Aliya Spotts volunteers serving fresh bread to the passing guests. This was one of the many stands upheld by volunteers.

WE'RE THE CLASS OF OH-ONE-TWO! AT WHAT WE DO,

The Class of 2015 got off to a slow start with Spirit Week and their float building, but thanks to help from their new adviser, Mrs. Mitchell, they made things work out. Class President Grace Russ admitted it was hard to organize class fundraisers at first because students were just getting used to the school and also so busy with other activities. They hope to be better organized in 2012-2013 and really show what they can do!

TEC Knows How to Co-op

Story By: Shianna Fenner
 Emily Bitzinger, and Kylie Dove

Rushing to grow up and start working, students in TEC or Co-op worked for half the day, either morning or afternoon during three of their six class hours. To be able to work for the school there are requirements you need to meet such as maintaining a certain GPA. This program gives them life skills and teaches them more responsibility.

Only juniors and seniors were allowed to take part in TEC and Co-op – which offers upper classment much needed experience working out of school in order to have that upper-hand when applying for jobs after graduation. The students at TEC worked with other students from not only Port Huron, but also students from Northern, Marysville, Memphis, Yale, Capac, East China, Algonac and Marine City. Students could choose from a large variety of classes such as cosmetology, nursing, culinary arts, engineering and so many more. The courses offered have a real world need and students are likely to earn college credit, as well as high school credit, and great experience they can use on a resume.

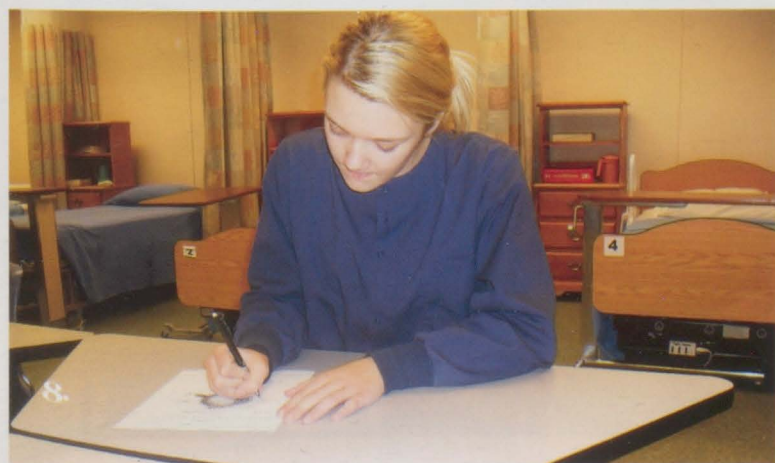

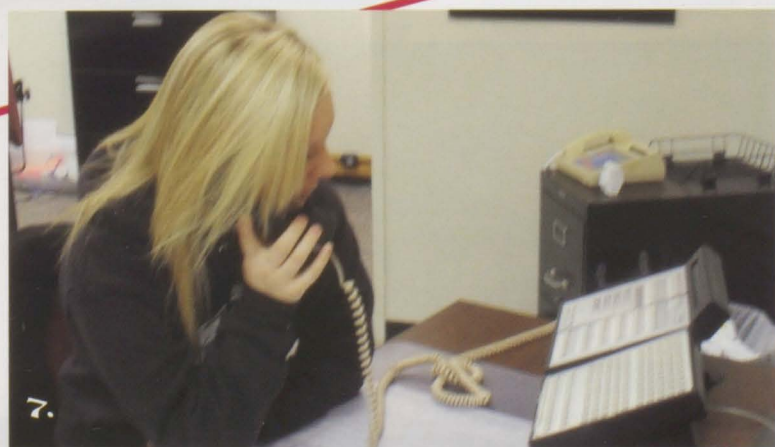

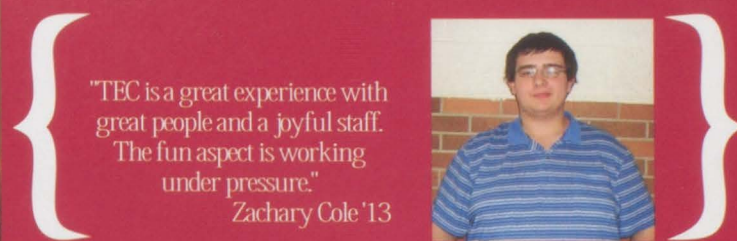

Co-op is another program that allowed the students to work at the school. Each student had their own important tasks. Some handed out the passes from the attendance office, the main office, counselors and the assistant principals. Others answered phones, made copies, or did other important things that the school needed done. Everyone knows, they make a day at PHHS run a lot more smoothly – especially when you were waiting on that yellow pass to go home!

2. Hustling down the hallways to make sure people get their passes on time, Raven Burkett '12 moves on and delivers the next pass.

3. Senior Joshua Sova in the welding class does an overhead position, lap joint in MIG welding. He wears the mask to protect himself from the sparks that the welding creates.

4. Senior Kylie Dove zooms in on her target during a photo session at TEC. With notes in hand she makes sure she's got the shot perfect before taking the final "snap!"

5. In Welding Class at TEC, senior Dylan Anglebrandt gingerly pressing the tungsten on the sander to grind it to the right shape and size.

6. Gathering around their patient, juniors, Alicia Scheffler, Cheyenne Comeau, Ashley Collins, Karrie Tucker and Taylor Kinter smile and prepare to heal their patient.

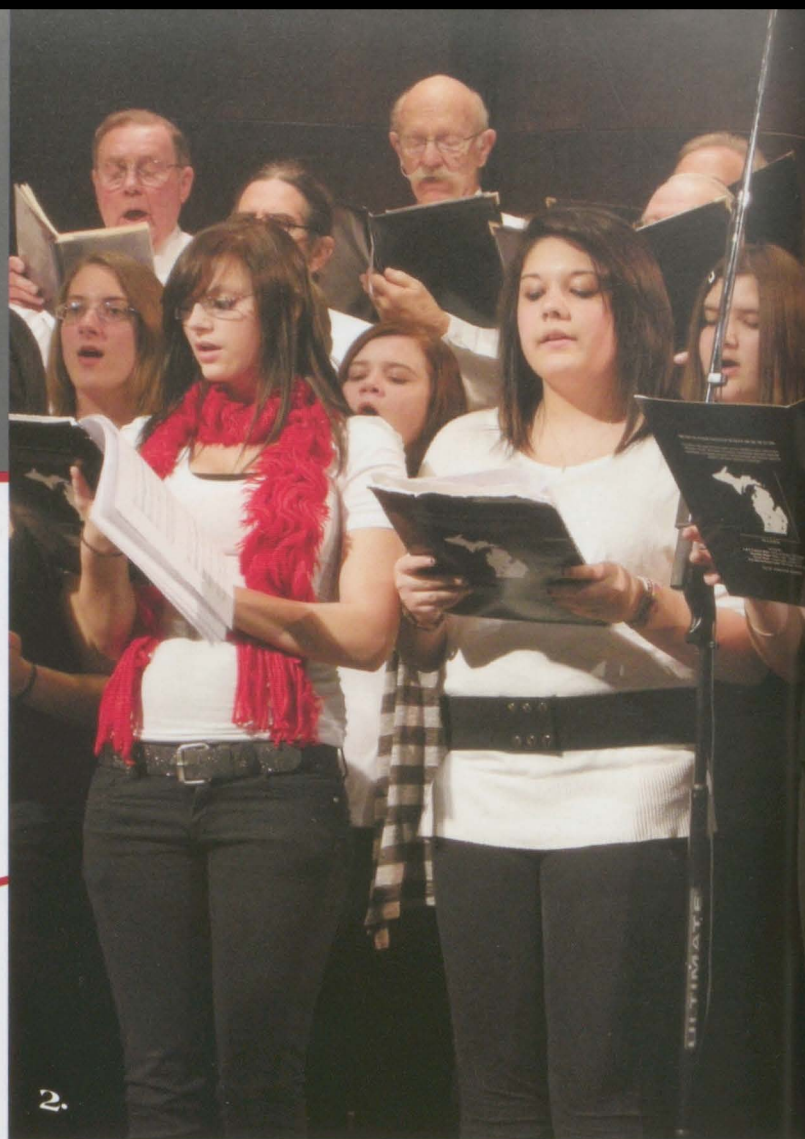

7. Working in the office for Co-Op, Anna Kozlowski '12 did one of her many responsibilities, by answering the phone. Anna helps parents that call by directing them to the right place.

8. Taking her time to get label the correct parts, Christiana Elling '13, in nursing at TEC, carefully labels the diagram on her worksheet.

9. Sometimes to get the good shot, you need to be a risk taker! Senior Emily Bitzinger balances on the giant wheels while checking the different angles she can get during the photo shoot.

4. Nicholas Vani '14 strums away on his guitar as he and the rest of the Guitar class prepare for their Christmas concert. The concert is one of the class' favorite ways to show off their talents.

5. Christopher Yaden' 12 details the main points his paper, he wrote for the speech class. Speech gives students a chance to express their views on any topic.

6. Mr. Beasley directs the choir in their Holiday Concert with at the PAC in December. Each of the choirs were highlighted during the concert.

7. Sanni Peltomaki'12, Mark Hubble'12, and Andrew Hinojosa'12 work diligently to accomplish learning the song they choose to play to earn a great grade.

8. Caitlin Ellis'13 prepares to give a speech in Ms. Miller's 5th hour speech class. Students give oral reports in speech class to express their feelings.

9. Krysten Kean'12 quietly highlights the main points of her speech paper before the class gives their presentations on their projects.

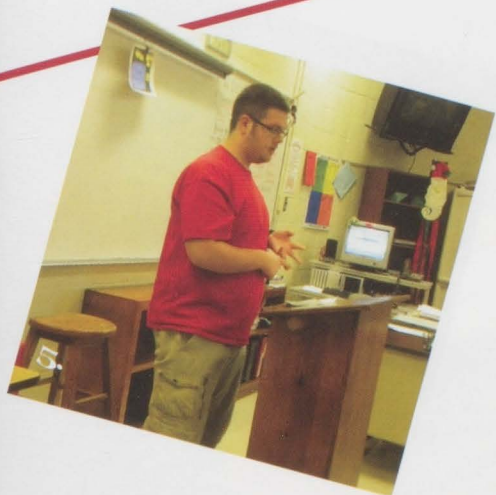

GUITAR, CHOIR, SPEECH AND PERFORMING ARTS

Talents as high as the stars!

Story By: Christopher Webb

Photos By: Sandra Holloway, Jamie Walker and Cassie Smith

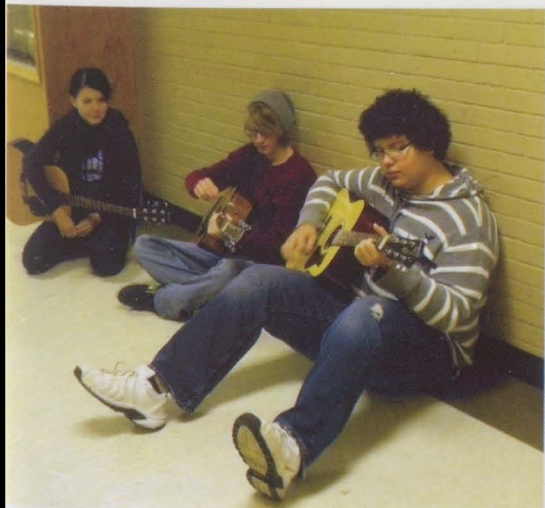

We all love the arts, singing, or strumming away on a guitar. These electives bring out the hidden talents within us for the whole school to enjoy.

Guitar isn't just an elective for some people. For most people guitar is a way for them to express who they really are. For the first time players, they learned the basics. For the experts, it's all about mastering that next song to play to their friends.

Choir is another elective that a lot of the students enjoy for a number of reasons. Students show off a different side of their personality when they sing. Before students start to sing they practice warming up their voice with Mr. Beasley on his piano. Throughout the year, the choir performs many concerts at the PAC and other venues.

Speech gives students a chance to present and argue their views on any subject. Whether that would be politics, sports, or band. Students love being able to express their feelings and letting people know what is on their mind. Speech gives students a chance by doing oral reports and writing papers.

Performing Arts is considered one of the favorite electives in the school. Students say they enjoy Performing Arts because it's almost more of a social group than a class. Students become close friends, and the class can really feel like a family because of how closely they work together. Students that are in the advanced performing arts class, get to perform plays such as The Odyssey and work on communicating with each other and new people. The performing arts class was a big part in the History of Rock n Roll where students performed acts as some of their favorite singers.

{ ARTS & CERAMICS }

Get Creative!

Story By: Allison Hudy & Teighlor Morris Photos By: Sandra Holloway and Jamie Walker

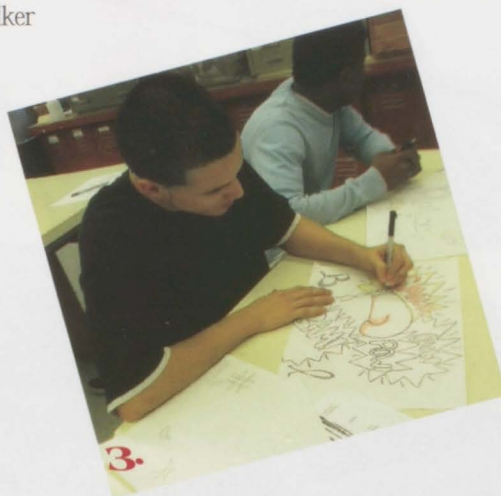

Throwing clay and splashing color on a blank canvas was one the creative ways Port Huron High School's art students showed off their many talents. PHHS art programs like drawing, ceramics, art, and even Advanced Placement Art were available for students who wanted to express themselves in creative ways.

For the first year, Advanced Placement Art was for students that want to advance their artistic talents. Alyssa Dock '13 said, "It is really challenging to get all of the projects done, but once they are done you feel great, and the projects look great too!" Students have the option to take either Ceramic I, for beginning ceramics students, or Ceramics II, for more advanced ceramics students.

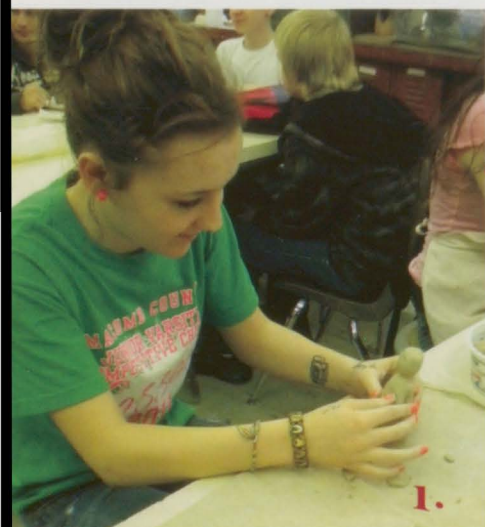

The creativity was high in the arts program. Junior Jaime Tuffin said, "Art is my favorite class, it is so nice to see my finished project, and while I do my project it gives me time to think. It is also such a stress reliever."

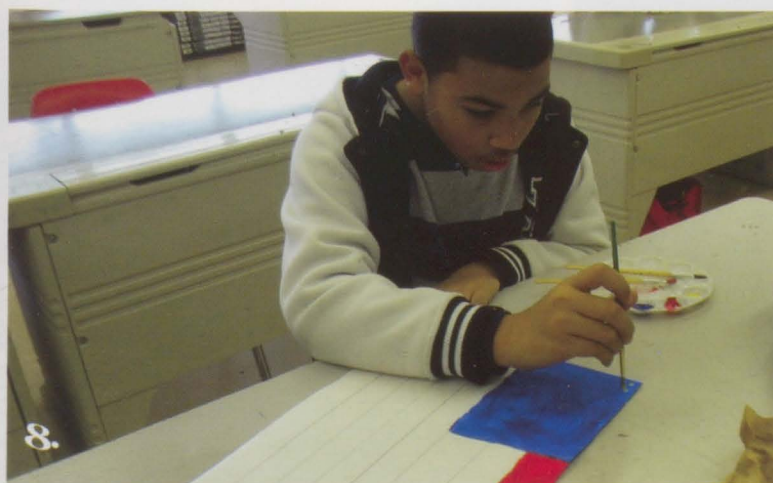

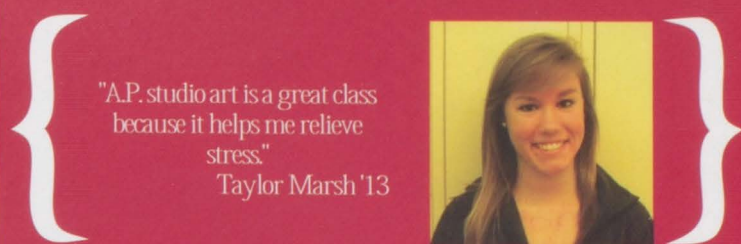

Students work hard to not only finish their project but make their project to the best of their ability. "I love being able to show my artistic skills in my advanced placement art class, it is great that our school offers the class for the advanced students. It is very challenging and very time consuming but when your project is finally finished it feels great," said junior, Erin Lensmyer.

Although the main reason for doing your best is to earn a good grade, another goal of art students is to get their art projects in the Fine Arts Show that is held in the PAC in the spring. If the judges like the project they could have the chance to take their project to the next level, into another art show.

2. Say cheese. Destinee Allen '14, Kayla Kayko '14, and Andrew Sergeant '13 take a break from drawing his pen drawing in one of our many art classes.

3. "BAM", "POW", and "SMACK" are what Curtis Chavarria '12 incorporated into his boxing picture in art class, also adding many colors to add his own style.

4. Two thumbs up Gordon Stevens '12 using the three primary colors. Gordon uses them to make many colors to paint his abstract art design.

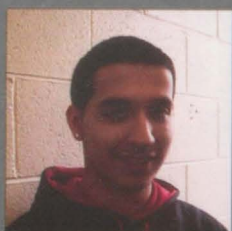

5. Getting down to business, Robert Johnson '14 concentrates on drawing in his first art class. Pencil drawing takes time and patience and a lot of practice.

6. Senior Leah Fryer uses her advanced skills to fill the cracks on her project she was completing for her advanced ceramic design class.

7. Stephon Burrell uses ceramic tool to fix imperfections on his project, while his table partner next to him glazed hid project then it will be ready to put in the kiln.

8. Stars and stripes represent our great nation. Students work hard to and use paint to make a replica of the American flag in their art class

9. Converse are the way to go, Senior Torren Mitchell does a pen drawing of his favorite pair of shoes for his art project. Patience and hard work got this picture done.

7. In the girls gym class they lift eachother up in the gymnastics part off the class. Which is one of the many fun units the class covers.

8. Like it or not, completing worksheets about teen health issues is an important part of Health class — as these students in Mr. Meinhardt's class discovered.

9. To start the class off right, students warm-up by doing stretches.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION & HEALTH

Being Active and Staying Healthy

Story By: Amber Underwood & Deanna Sorrell Photos By: Jamie Walker

Staring at the ticking clock, counting down the seconds until the class is over. Admit it, we've all done it before. Sitting in class for hours a day can be boring. Thankfully, with the many physical education classes Port Huron High offers, for one hour a day you could have fun and get active. Physical Education was one of the graduation requirements for students and most choose to take basic gym their freshman year. However, many other students took advantage of the opportunity to be fit and took other gym classes such as: Weights and Aerobics, Recreational Sports, Basketball, or Football Theory.

Being active is not the only important factor in staying healthy. Proper eating habits, facts about drugs, sexually transmitted illnesses and diseases, and relationship issues were several things that you learned in Health class. With activities such as "walking the line test" while wearing "drunk" goggles, having guests speakers, and watching movies like Supersize Me, Health class kept things interesting while still educating students about the human body and how to take care of it. Health was only a one semester class, but a requirement for graduation.

ELA & FOREIGN LANGUAGES

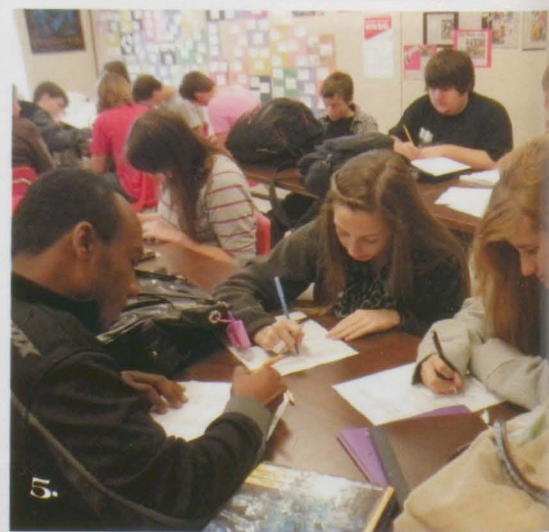

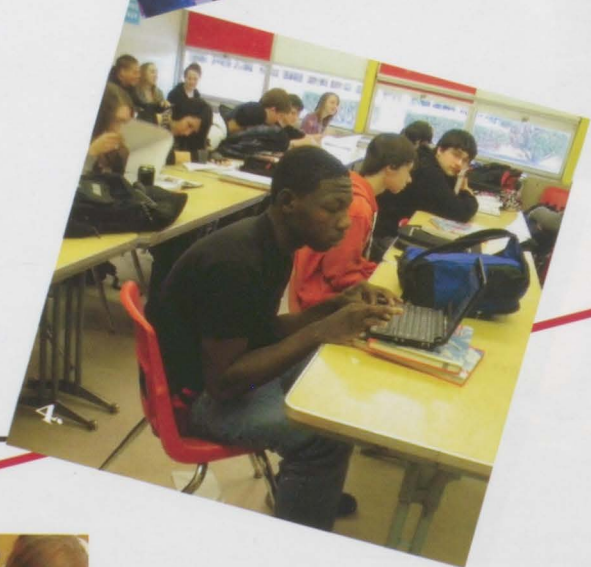

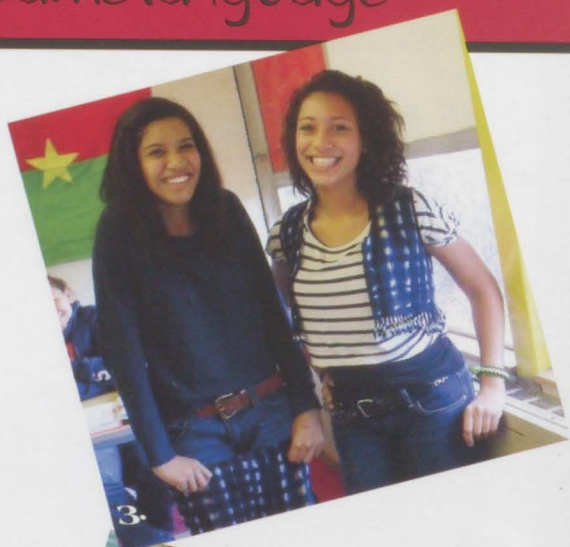

Everybody smiles in the same language

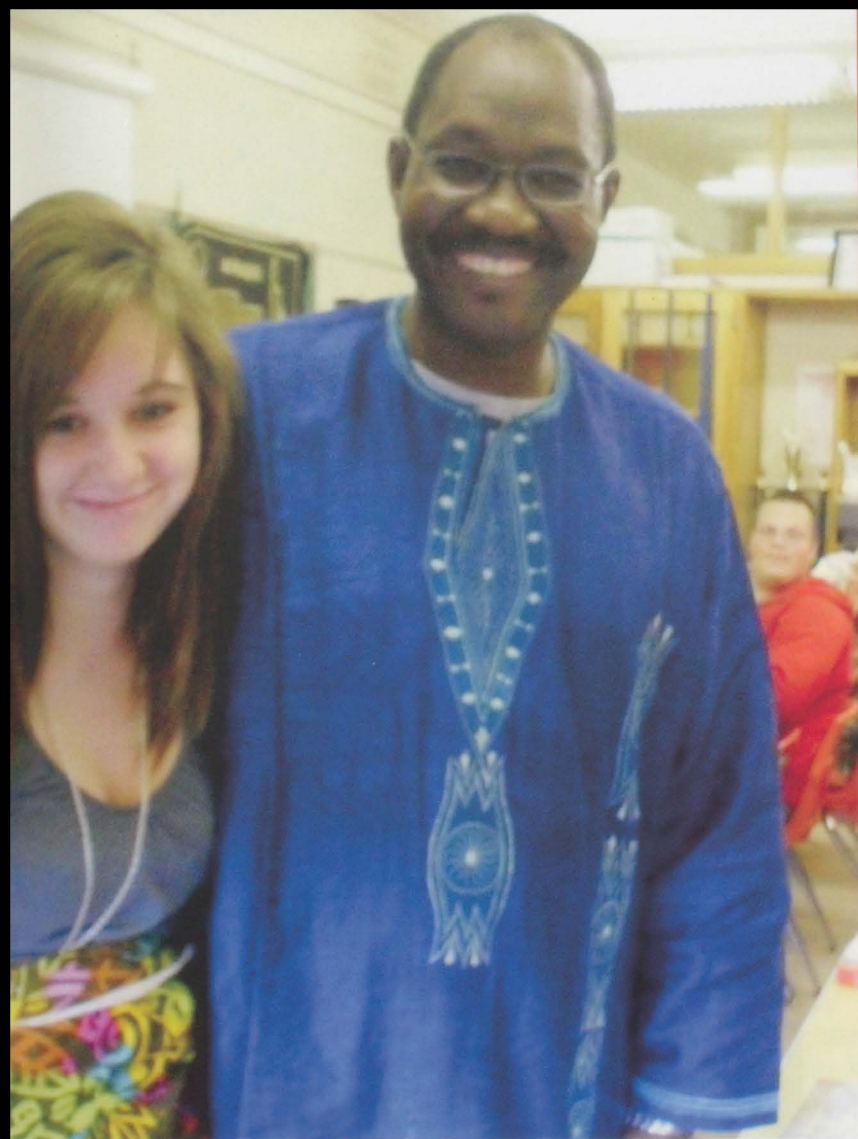

Story By: Deanna Sorrell & Amber Underwood Photos By: Jamie Walker & Cassie Smith

Langue étrangère est amusant! ¡Si. El idioma extranjero es gracioso! French and Spanish are two foreign language courses offered at PH to help broaden students' understanding of the world around them and give them the experience of traveling abroad without leaving the classroom. It's also important to mention that most colleges want students to have at least two years of foreign language. Andrew Hinojosa '12 said he liked Spanish because "it was a new experience everyday."

Foreign language courses not only teach students how to speak a new language, but they also learn about the different cultures in and around those countries. French teacher Mr. Mueller brought in a guest speaker from, Burkina Faso, a country in Africa where the main language is French. Students learned about the country and its culture and heard the the French language from a native speaker. Mr. Mueller said the experience gave him one of his best teaching days at Port Huron High. "I couldn't have had more fun," he said.

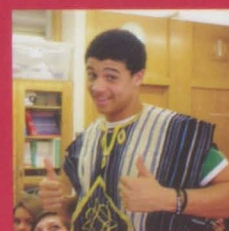

Reading and writing is important. So important that now every student at PHHS is required to take four years of English Language Arts courses – from ELA 9 to College Writing to AP Lit. In the freshman and sophomore classes, reading the classics like Romeo & Juliet and Of Mice and Men and learning writing basics was the goal. Juniors in ELA 11 experienced Frankenstein and Hamlet while always working on ACT prompts. In classes like College Writing, students studied vocabulary and rhetoric preparing for the ACT and learned how to write terms papers for college. Many Seniors opted to take ELA 12 where they did many presentations and read novels like Night and Things Fall Apart as they counted the days to graduation.

"I love my coach, [Mr.] Mueller, and thought it'd be fun to talk about something other than basketball with him in French."

3. Sophmores Gabrielle Crews and Tianna Jones explore the culture of other French speaking countries.

4. Students in Mr. Mueller's French I class use netbooks to learn about France and to search for French-speaking pen pals to send messages back and forth. The pen pals gave students a real world way to learn French.

5. Prewrite, revise, edit, revise, edit again, revise, write and edit again. Students in Ms. Miller's class knew it was a long process to get to the final publishing stage.

MATHEMATICS & SCIENCES

The Masters Of Technology

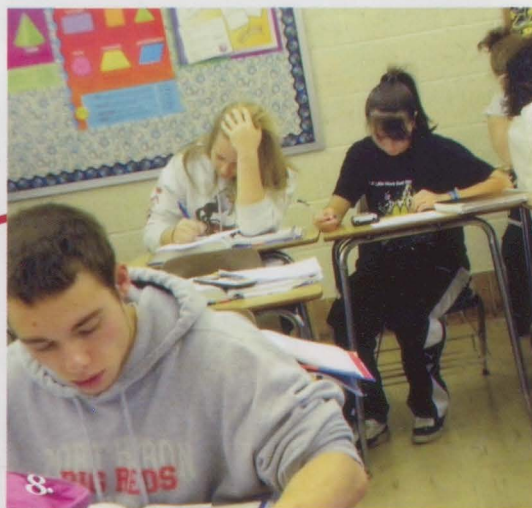

Story By: Cheyenne Knight & Nichole Ransberger

Photos By: Jamie Walker, Sandra Holloway, Charles Hawkins and Cassie Smith

With more and more video games coming out, students lost focus when it came to homework, or even in class work. But not many people thought about 'How was this game made?' or 'How many math and science classes did someone need in order to make a video game?'

Port Huron High School requires each student to earn 4 math credits. All students must take Algebra I, Geometry, and Algebra II. There are other classes students could take also including Pre Calculus and Trigonometry. Throughout each marking period, there were several data based tests that cover the sections students learn. At the end of each semester is a final exam about the past three marking periods. In order to earn the half credit for each semester students had to pass two of the three marking periods and the final exam. Teachers did many fun activities like making kites in geometry to help students understand their work better.

Big Red students are required to earn three science credits before graduation. Students could take Biology, Physical Science, and Chemistry. There are many more options available including AP Biology and AP Chemistry. Some of the science classes did many labs and activities like making copper in Mr. Weiss's Chemistry class throughout the year to help the students understand their chapter better. At the end of each semester there was a final exam that covered everything they learned during the three marking periods. In order to earn the credits you had to have 70% or higher as an overall grade. The overall grade combined each marking period grade and the final exam.

{ HISTORY & PSYCHOLOGY }

Where Topics Collide

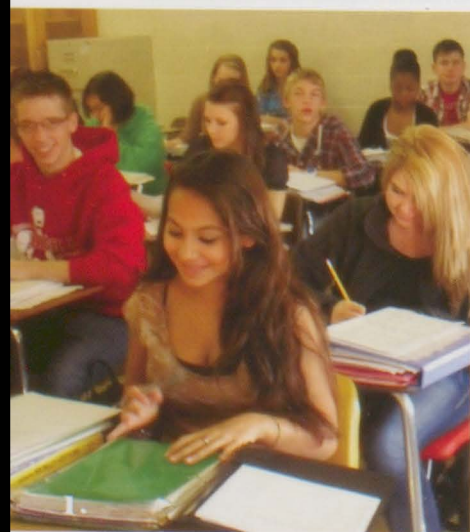

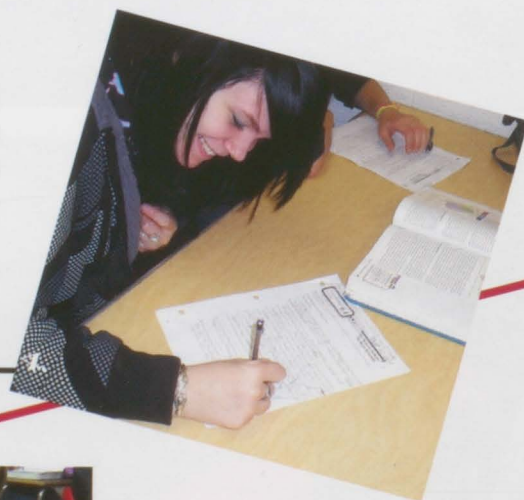

Story By: Shianna Fenner, Christopher Holdburg and Mackenzie Carter
 Photos By: Jamie Walker, Sandra Holloway, Charles Hawkins and Cassie Smtih

One of the most important things about high school is preparing students for college classes. Lectures, PowerPoints, class discussions, maps, vocabulary and chapter notes are some of the ways teachers get students prepared. History and Psychology are two classes that students will end up taking again in college, whether they like it or not.

History is an adventure where you can learn about everything from the ancient ages to government. To some students history is very fascinating; to others it's a struggle. But Kaitlyn Lester '14 pointed out, "Having my teacher discuss information with us, rather than just reading it from the book is the most helpful strategy for me."

Reading is an important thing to know, especially when trying to read body language. But what about the mind? Psychology is the study of the human mind, and behaviors. Where you learn about human instincts and why we do what we humans do. Ms. Myers and Mrs. Ford our Port Huron Highs Psychology teachers. Mrs. Ford gets the class involved in active discussions where the students open up and express their feelings about a certain topic they feel passionate about. Charles Foster '12 says, "The class is a stable place to tell people how you feel about life."

In Ms. Myers class the students did an activity turning words and symbols into famous phrase, an example would be: PLOT and the phrase that came with it was, The plot thickens. Seeing how the words looked and noticing the way the students came up with it was just the thing to show the students how humans can infer things do to prior knowledge. Port Huron High offered Psychology I for high school credit and Advanced Placement Psychology for those students who wanted to earn college credit.

"What I love about Ms. Myers' psychology class is that it explains the meanings behind our own behaviors, which can help us to be better towards others and ourselves."
-Jeremy Collins '12

1. Students in Mr. Harris' World History class listen to the old school stories from around the world while studying and doing book work.

2. World History is really something to think long and hard about as it has built up the world to what it is today. Kyle Curtis '13 learns about the impacts.

3. In Mr. Harris' World History class, students worked on a sheet from the book, learning with the map of our country and the rest of the world.

4. Worksheets may be boring but they're great for studying! Kendall Bergman '12 fills in the needed information needed to get the 100% on the test.

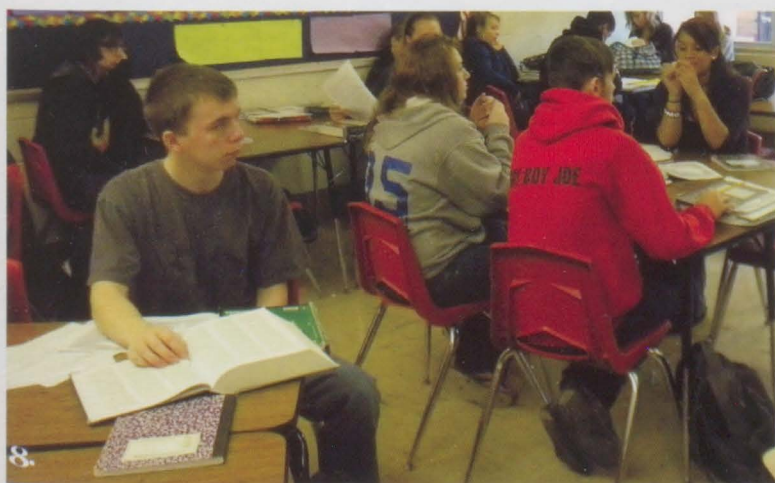

5. In Mr. Harris' World History class, his students worked hard on getting an A, while they did their work and listened carefully.

6. Working together in Psychology, seniors Desiree Carroll and Leah Sternefeld even their work loads out and discuss the topic at hand.

7. Seniors Shelby Graham, Emily Bitzinger, Aubree Forsyth, and Aleena Davis take a break from working hard to smile for the camera.

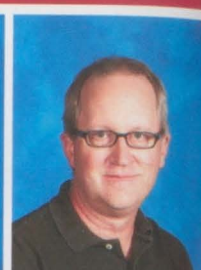

8. Listening attentively and doing vocabulary, Jason Graham '13 uses his index to look up terms in Mrs. Ford's World History.

The Student Voices!

Student Council

Story and Photos by: Navapa Varapark & Ravenn Miranda

Homecoming, Class Advisories, and Spirit weeks – in the Fall and Winter – are a few of the activities organized by Student Council. To be on student council students have to maintain their grades, as well as set a good example to the other students in the school. Student council is a group of students selected by students to represent the majority of the student voice at Port Huron High.

The top goal of student council was to focus on making improvements to the school. They would be the ones you would go to if you had a concern about certain activities or conditions of a part of the school that needed attention.

They also put on activities such as the Christmas assembly and the Homecoming games assembly to provide entertainment and help build school spirit. Student Council involves a lot of planning and organization, so these people always had to be on the ball. The skills they learned and the way they handled situations will help them become great leaders of the future.

The student council officers were: Elizabeth Turpin as President, Joshua Feher as Vice President, Desiree Carroll as Secretary, Joey Stier as Treasurer, Collin Smith as Parliament, Ryon Burrell as Historian, Chelsea Alexis as Public Relations and Courtney Harris as Ombudsman with Mr. Shumaker as the advisor.

"In student council, we have a blast helping out our school and the people in it."

Friday Night Lights

BIG REDS MARCHING MACHINE

With about 170 musicians working in near-perfect synchronization, it's no wonder they call it the Big Red Marching Machine. Under the direction of Daniel Griffith and led by drum majors Courtney Baker '12, LeeAnn Lum '12 and Collin Smith '13, the 2011-12 BRMM proved to be one of the most hard working and committed marching bands in the school's history. From practices and parades in the rain to an extra long football season, this was a year that proved that the BRMM was the one that couldn't be beat.

The BRMM spent band camp in Lexington this summer learning this year's show – Friday Night Lights. The show consisted of Guns N' Roses' Sweet Child of Mine, Bon Jovi's Living on a Prayer, and a medley of songs by Journey. The band also played in several parades from the Downtown Port Huron Santa Parade, International Day Parade, and the Sarnia Christmas Parade. The BRMM participated along with other high schools in the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association (MSBOA) and earned a Division One score. During spring break the students took a trip to Florida for an award of their excellent school performances. They truly had an amazing season this year, all due to hard work and determination.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Giving It Your All

Story and Photos by: Brittany Walker and Kaylyn Stephens

It was the 89th anniversary of the National Honor Society. Senior and junior honor students joined together to create the National Honor Society. This organization stands on the four pillars of society: Scholarship, leadership, character, and service. To enter the society you must have a 3.3 or higher grade point average throughout your experience at PH, as well as write an application stating why you wanted to be inducted into the group. The teachers then read through every application, and chose who they thought could contribute the best.

Being in the society told people you wanted to help the community by doing service hours. In order to earn the necessary eight service hours, students had to take part in activities that contributed to community events. In order to stay in NHS, students had to complete all their service hours. Students did what they could to meet those hours from helping out with food drives to collecting clothing for those in need.

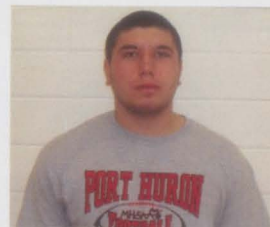

To keep this running properly, members elected students they thought would be great leaders. President- Alyson Sickles'12, Vice-President- John Sienkiewicz'12, Secretary- Hope Thompson'12, Treasurer- Courtney Baker'12, Public Relations- Brandon Huntoon'12, Volunteer Coordinator- Amanda Goodwin'12, and Advisor- Mrs. Laura Mitchell.

Together these young students made a difference in many different ways, from giving back to the community, to helping the people in the city of Port Huron. They thought of the glass half full; they were just trying to fill the rest of it up with helpfulness.

"NHS builds great leadership, character, and allows me to help people that need it."

Life On The Edge

YEARBOOK

There were many words that describe the Yearbook class: stressful, crazy, exhausting, draining and memorable. Everyone in the class knew that sometime down the road PH staff members, students, their family and friends would look at this book they made. This book holds all their cherished memories at Port Huron High, and the yearbook staff worked hard throughout the school year to put together this memory book.

As it does every year, the yearbook was guided by new editors. This year co-editors Sandra Holloway and Cassie Smith led the staff under the guidance of Advisor and Teacher Ms. Kinnee. The class of 31 students had the task of putting together a 200-page full-color yearbook in less than six months. With one deadline a month – and school breaks in between, not to mention exams and ACT/MME testing – it was sometimes a battle to get everyone to get on board with the deadlines.

Students had to attend assemblies, interrupt classes, sell ads, go to sporting events, track down coaches, track down students, track down teachers, take thousands of photographs, write dozens of stories, and get all of it into the computer. After that, it had to be laid out into the design templates, edited, and sent off to Ms. Kinnee who then had proof it all. Somehow, it was done – for you to enjoy!

"Even though I was only on Yearbook for a semester, I learned it was all about team work." – Amanda Lasky '12

DRAMA CLUB

This year the Port Huron High School Drama Club pulled off many wonderful performances. One of which included a stage play based off of Louis Carroll's Alice In Wonderland. Taking the lead of Alice this year was Junior, Paige Precour. The adventure starts off when Alice stumbles upon a hole and falls into Wonderland. While exploring this unfamiliar land, she meets a variety of diverse characters: The White Rabbit, played by senior Joshua Feher; The Mad Hatter, played by senior Ryon Burrell; The White Queen, played by senior LeeAnn Lum; The Red Queen, played by senior Elizabeth Turpin; and The Queen of Hearts, played by sophomore Khyra Perez. These characters helped Alice progress her way through Wonderland. Alice spent her time having tea with the cooky Mad Hatter and his fellow companions The Door Mouse (Jessica Vasquez '13) and The Hare (Anthony Helmrich '12). The play was full of fun and excitement for all ages.

1. The cast of Alice In Wonderland stands tall and proud in the midst of uproarious applause after their performance. Congratulations everyone! For a job well done.

Big Time Rewards

Big Red CHAMPS

One of the newest programs to encourage good behavior at PH is Big Red Champs. At the end of each marking period, Big Red Champs were given the opportunity to participate in special events. To qualify as a Big Red Champ a student had to earn all A, B, and C grades; had no assigned retentions or suspensions; and had no more than three absences.

For the first marking period, more than 400 students were eligible for a trip to Dave and Buster's. For the second marking period, 526 students were eligible for a trip to Crisler Arena to watch Wolverine basketball in Ann Arbor. For the third marking period, 523 students eligible for a trip to Kalahari Waterpark in Ohio.

As the year went on, the trips became even more exciting so students were encouraged to keep working toward better grades, better attendance, and better behavior.

"I think it's a great opportunity for new experiences and new friends, plus you get out of school for a day and who doesn't love that?"

How & Key Club

Do you like helping the community and the people in it? HOW (Helping Our World) and Key Club were two great ways students found they could get involved through recycling and raising money – ways to help the world and humanity. In organizations like these, students learned leadership skills, character building and caring for others. Port Huron High students found that by being there for the people of the world and even the world itself, it made them feel better about themselves.

Created two years ago, Key Club participated in things like the Polar Bear Plunge, blood drives, cleaning up parks, and for the holidays they sent cards to soldiers. Helping our community and the people in it was the main goal of the Key Club.

The blue recycling bins in each of your classrooms represent HOW Club. Recycling was one of the most important things about the HOW Club. Saving trees from the paper that they recycle really helps the planet into becoming a better place to live in. Remember global warming is NOT cool. Reduce, reuse, recycle, and respect. Go green and make a difference.

The happiest people are the kind that change the world. You want to be happy, don't you? Be helpful to the planet and help people, be thankful for the things that they have.

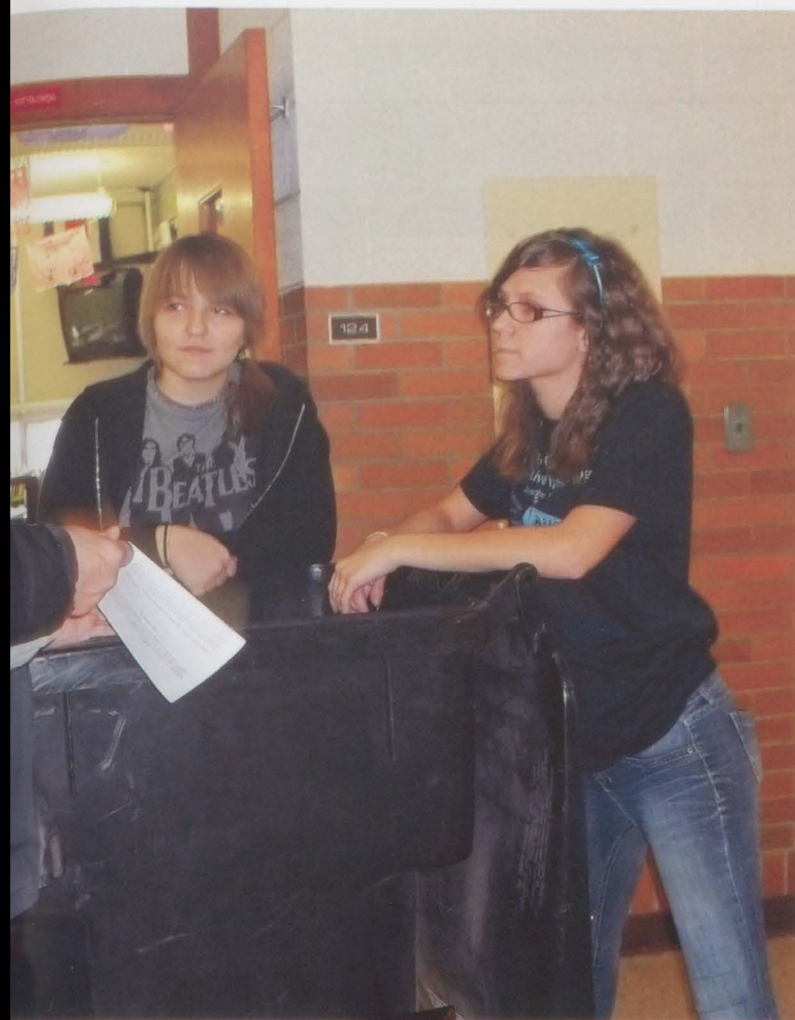

"I love Key Club; it's a fun experience and I love getting the chance to meet new people and help out others."

Quiz Bowl & Mock Trial

If you were to walk into our school's Mock Trial or Quiz Bowl practices, you might hear something like "Order! Order! Order in the court!" or "You sir, are incorrect." Although these two clubs are very different, you must possess some of the same characteristics to make a difference to your team in both. If you can concentrate, obtain facts, and have complete dedication to your team, these are the teams to join.

Quiz Bowl is like a trivia game. The more you know, the better you will do. The faster you are, the more points you will earn. The team was coached by Ms. Kinnee. Varsity captain and top scorer was Yang Lu '12. Junior varsity captain was Jason Graham. The team had a rough start to its season due to a nearly all new team, but hopes the rebuilding year will bring a strong team for 2013-14. PHHS had the honor of hosting the Blue Water Area Quiz Bowl Championship Tournament in March.

Mock Trial team is exactly what its name entails. It is a group of students, led by Mrs. Mitchell, that prepare to participate in a mock or fake trial. Although the trials are made up, the club is very realistic. Actual lawyers come to PHHS to assist our team with the trial and keep them on the right track. A large amount of new members joined the team including three foreign exchange students. To keep the club running smoothly, the members were split into two groups. This year's case was a murder mystery that involved a will donating money to the "Save the Music" Foundation. After many hours of practice and hard work, the teams went to a tournament in an actual court room. They challenged other schools to the case with their newly acquired debate and legal knowledge skills.

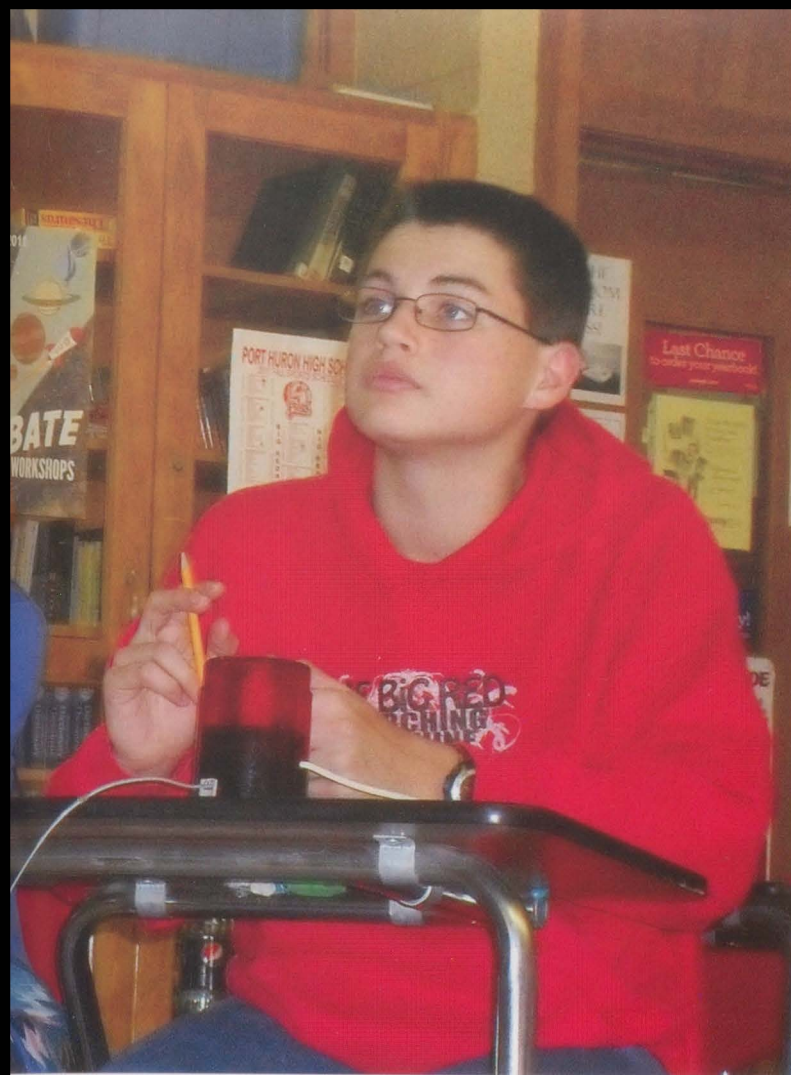

"Mock trial gives me an inside look on how the legal system really works as well as bettering my arguing skills."

Dance Like No One's Watching

T-BIRDS & COLOR GUARD

Story by: Melissa Harvill

Dancing and twirling their way through competitions and football games, Thunderbirds and Color Guards helped bring great natural life and beauty to Port Huron High School. Thunderbirds danced at competitions, parades, and other events. They were all about magnificence with the way they dress and how they placed their make up on. Thunderbirds practiced two times a week for two hours, working on their skills and dance moves. Amanda Ellis '13 said, "My team is like a big happy family, we joke around a lot, but we also work very hard." Color Guards twirl their flags while they follow the Big Red Marching Machine. They took part in football games at half time, parades, and all Marching Machine events.

Color Guard went to MSBOA for an evening event with the Marching Band and won 1st place in the 1 division. Virginia Greaux '14 said, "It is the only sport where you can twist, twirl, and flip it."

The key concept of the Thunderbirds and Color Guard is that they make a family. They stuck together, like salt and pepper. These two groups would have sleepovers and dinners together. That's what a family does. Both Thunderbirds and Color Guards are quite different in many ways. Mostly because Color Guards Twirl their flags and Thunderbirds twirl their whole body. They are also similar in many ways. They both dress up like experts, with make-up and very fancy clothing.

"Thunderbirds is where we all dress up so beautiful and professional and dance our night away. It brings joy to everyone."

Fun Fitness & SADD

Students against Destructive Decisions is a student organization where students help other students learn ways to say "NO" to drinking and driving, drug use, teen violence, and teen suicide. These students have set many examples for other teens. They have taken on topics like peer pressure, role modeling, and environmental strategies to help set a healthier, safer course for others.

Every year, SADD tries to make PHHS students aware of what they do and what they are, along with the many policies they have. Of course, the main one is the "NO USE" policy, which is no under-aged drinking. Other programs are the designated driving program and safe rides program.

Joey Stier, one of the members of SADD, said the group helps teens with making good choices and steers them away from bad choices. Throughout the year, they held activities to help teens become aware of their choices. One of the most dramatic activities was the Touch of Death day when SADD students would touch a student every few minutes to show how many students die every year from drinking and driving related deaths during prom and graduation events.

Fun Fitness! Helping the elementary students get fit while they're still little is a great way for them to use this skill later in life. Juniors and seniors from PH get together and take field trips to many different elementary schools to show some fun exercising activities, such as dance routines, running exercises, and fun games.

Junior Evan Wagner says, "I love working with the kids. They're tons of fun and easy to work with. Fitness for life!" Fitness needs to be perceived as fun and games, or we subconsciously avoid it. According to Mrs. Kindle who directs the Fun Fitness program, avoiding exercise is what most Americans are doing now, having fun fitness will have the kids of tomorrow be more fit.

Making a Difference

Ignite Bible Study was a great place for students to get together and talk about their religious beliefs. It met in the mornings every Tuesday and Thursday and was lead by Ryon Burrell '12. All students were welcome to join. During meetings, students usually discussed passages from the Bible and talked about their own life experiences. "It's a great group because you get other people's point of view on scripture and problems," explained senior Viola Dietlin.

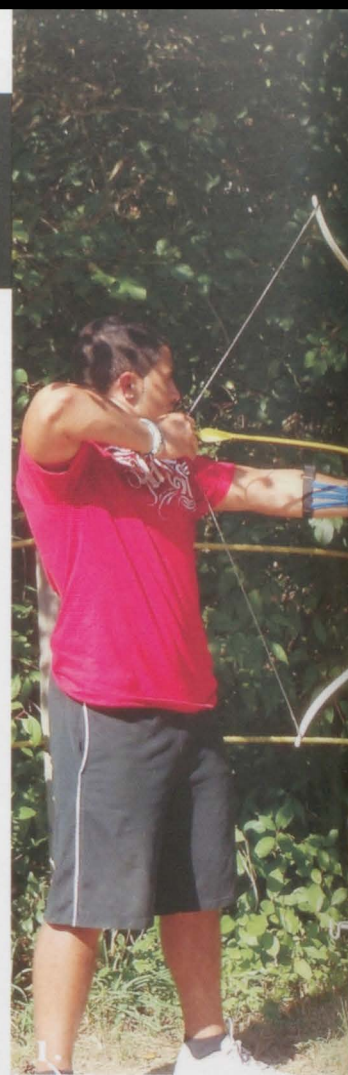

Leadership class was available to students for the first time this year and was taught by Mrs. Kindle. The class was for juniors and seniors who were interested in being leaders and role models for other students at PH. The class was involved in a lot of activities during lunches, including a pie eating contest for students and an obstacle course held just before Thanksgiving break. They also did activities after school and throughout the school to bring attention to the importance of being a good leader. Krysten Kean '12 was one of the students in the class who was preparing to become a good leader. "We work hard for the school to improve and unite the students and staff," she said.

The students in this class are role models for the whole school. "Students are working on their leadership skills; we try to learn by doing," stated Mrs. Kindle.

JAZZ & WRITE ON

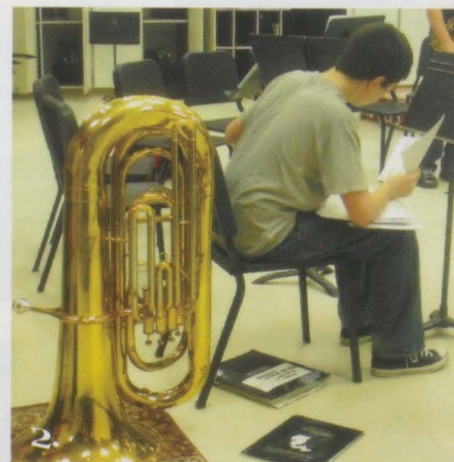

Increasing the member's communication skills was the goal of the Write On club lead by ELA 10 and Speech teacher, Ms. Miller and managed by the seniors Sandra Holloway and Jeremy Collins. This was a very casual club with a relaxed feel. When asked if they wanted to have guest speakers and writing lessons, the students responded with a no. They wanted the club to be centered on the idea of listening and sharing their own writing pieces. The students wrote at their meetings and also read out loud in front of the group what they have written. They also had the option to bring in anything that they have previously written and share it with the group. After reading their written work aloud, students discussed both the positive and negative things about the writing.

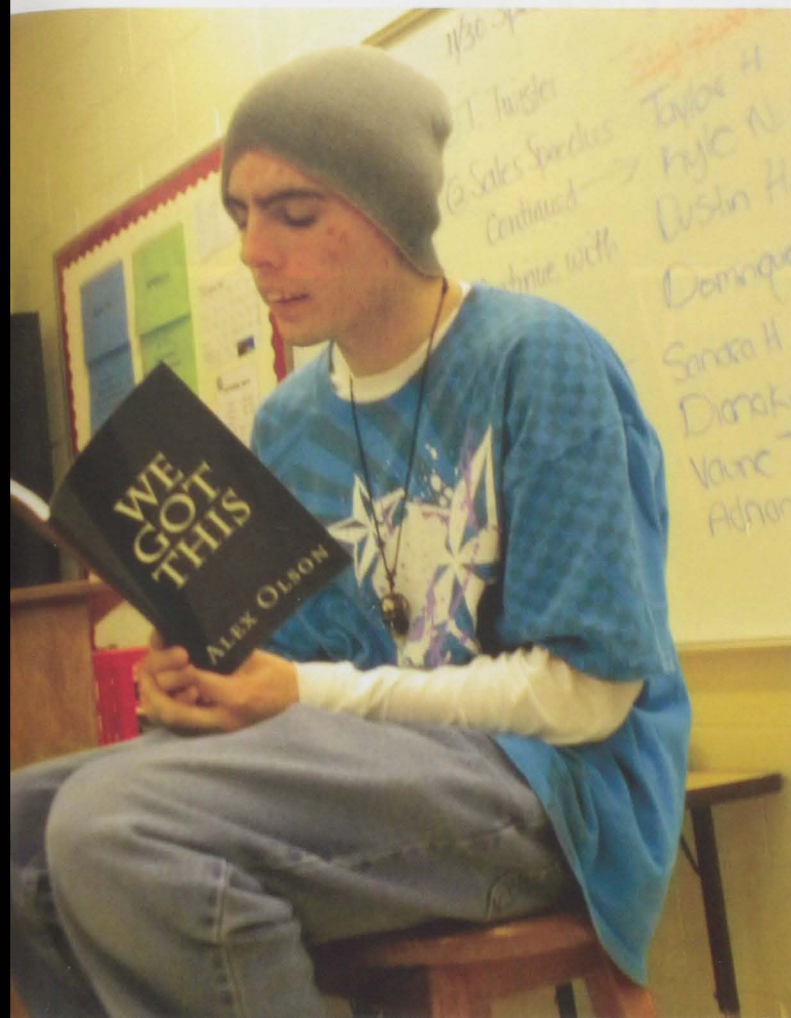

Jazz Band included a small group of about 25 or so students who met an hour before school with Band Director Mr. Griffith and explored the music of the jazz/stage band genre. Students are limited to playing standard Jazz band instruments such as saxophone, trumpet, trombone, bass, guitar, piano, and percussion. The Jazz Band wasn't a "regular" class for credit, but they played soulful jazz, including songs by Cab Calloway or Louie Armstrong.

"Writing is my favorite thing to do because it takes you to another place where you can be whatever you want."

Take me out to the ball game, take me out with the crowd. Buy me some peanuts and Cracker Jack, I don't care if I never get back. Let me root, root, root for the home team, if they don't win it's a shame. For it's one, two, three strikes you're out at the old ball game! If you've ever been to a baseball game, you know this classic jingle by heart. It gets fans going and makes the experience of a baseball game that much more for someone. But before you can get the fans going, you have to make sure the team is ready and prepared to play their game. Everyone has their own way of getting in the zone before a game. Marcus Brown '14 says "I listen to All Time Low, Every Avenue, Fallout boy, and other songs that get me in a good mood." Others eat their favorite foods or sleep before their game so they're replenished and refreshed.

"If you're going to play, commit and work to the best of your ability everyday"

-Nicholas Rosales '14

Although getting ready for games wasn't a challenge for the time, one challenge that most spring sports faced was overcoming the unforgiving weather that came our way. This year was especially hard-hitting because of the weather. From the snow storms in April to the thunderstorms and tornado watches in May. Mother Nature was definitely Port Huron High's toughest opponent yet. The amount of games that were cancelled this year was disheartening and disappointing, but the players always pushed through. Evan Wagner '13 thought of the weather as a good thing. "I had a broken hand so it was kind of a good thing considering I didn't have to miss as many games." Although the weather was a disappointment to the boys, the Big Reds came out fired up and ready for what was ahead of them. With only four returning Varsity players and three of them being seniors, they had to step up the plate to stay focused and motivated. However, staying focused on school with all the excitement can become a difficult task. The players had to make sure that their grades came first. This became quite a challenge between practices, games, and studying. Even though it is understandable to fall behind while playing a sport, it is not an excuse. The weather and their grades may have momentarily distracted the players, but they were always determined to win.

GIRLS BRINGING It to Home Base

Story By: Kylee Doan, Jessica Parker, Andrew Phillips and Jamie Walker.

While many girls tried out for Freshmen softball, only a select 15 girls made the cut. Many girls have been playing for a long time, including freshman Haley Kielbas, who has been playing for seven years. She says "I love forming strategies to play and being a catcher". Knowing how to play the game helps the team win. Not only is softball a passion for most, it is a way to make new friendships and learn the definition of the word TEAM. Losing motivation throughout the season can sometimes come easily considering the fact that the girls still have academics as a first priority. Some ways they stay motivated is by "having my teammates cheering me on and pumping me up." states Jaime Tuffin '13. The Varsity softball team started the season off great. They played sixteen exciting innings against their historical rivals, the Marysville Vikings, and won! Playing on varsity is more competition, more dedication and more desire to stay on the top. Not only is softball a sport that's played, some can finish off the season with new learning experiences, and new friends. The hard work of the girls practicing everyday paid off in the long run. All of the softball teams have went through a lot this year with the weather Michigan was giving us. All the girls went through lots of rainouts, they still stayed focused and worked hard to be ready to win all the makeup games.

"I play second base and I enjoy it because I've always played that position."

-Alexandria Wheelihan '13.

1. Working hard practicing, Sierra White '13 stays focused while playing catch with a team mate and is prepared to catch the softball.

2. Playing first base, Taylor Cook '12 stays ready for either the ball of a player to come her way, in attempt to get the opposing team out.

3. Brittany Walker '14, throwing a fast pitch at the game against Warren Woods Tower. Being a freshman on a varsity softball team is a big deal for her.

4. Kaitlyn Lester '14 playing second base in the stands ready position and prepared for anything that comes her way.

5. While practicing Taylor Thomas '14 is exploring the outfield and waiting for the softball to come her way.

6. Up to bat, Senior Jennifer Reid gets her head in the game to try hard to get that home run. Jennifer is one of the few left handed players on the varsity softball team.

IT ALL PAYS OFF In the long run

Story By: Cassie Smith Photos By: Cassie Smith

"I recommend track for everyone because it makes you physically feel good and mentally feel good to be on a team that support you."

-Sarah Cuthbert '12

Track takes a lot of stamina, motivation, and being quick with your mind and body. This year the lady big reds were ready to take on the competitions. They start out every practice with stretching and 2 loops around the track field. "Its necessary to get lose and not pull anything". Stated Cailynn Kotzke 14' when asked what she thought of her daily warm ups.

After warm ups the girls were pumped up to start practicing for the season. From pole vault, to discus, and the ever feared long run track is a very diverse sport. The girls were all placed in different events. Junior Crystal Carrothers does the discus; her favorite part of the event is when she is able to get past the 3rd line. On the long bus rides to their meets Junior Christiana Elling recalls "On the bus rides we all dance and just have fun together and get pumped up!"

Starting her second year in High School track Sophomore Madison Easton says about her team "It's definitely different than middle school track, there's a lot more commitment and dedication." The girls spend a lot of time away from home to play at the meets. It takes a lot of perseverance to do this sport we asked Junior Nicole Cahours what motivates her to keep going "There's a drive to excel and be the best when you're an athlete."

When the day starts to get longer and the sun a little hotter the girls start to feel the pressure. But, they always know that when in a sticky situation they can always go to the coaches or captains. They always know what's best to do.

PUMPED UP Kicks

Story By: Shianna Fenner Photos By: Cassie Smith

"The season went really good due to hard work and dedication," says first year shotputter and discus player Dominic Cortez '12

This year so many Port Huron Big Reds joined the track team. Competing in events such as relays, sprints, hurdling, pole vaulting, long jump, discus and javelin; each person joined a different event and did their part. Teamwork and determination lead to a great season where all events won over half of their meets. Jeremy Kasik says, "Everybody is just trying their hardest to improve and do the best they can." The boys got through the season by having the support of their coaches Landschoot and Elery along with their fellow Big Reds.

Going against teams like Saint Clair, Port Huron Nothern, Marysville and so many others competition got fierce. Keeping a level head and having confidence in oneself is essential for a successful meet. The only obstacles in your way are the ones you see when you take your eyes off the finish.

MAKING SOME Racket

"My motivation during a tough match is my two coaches Mrs. Shymko and Mr. Harris"

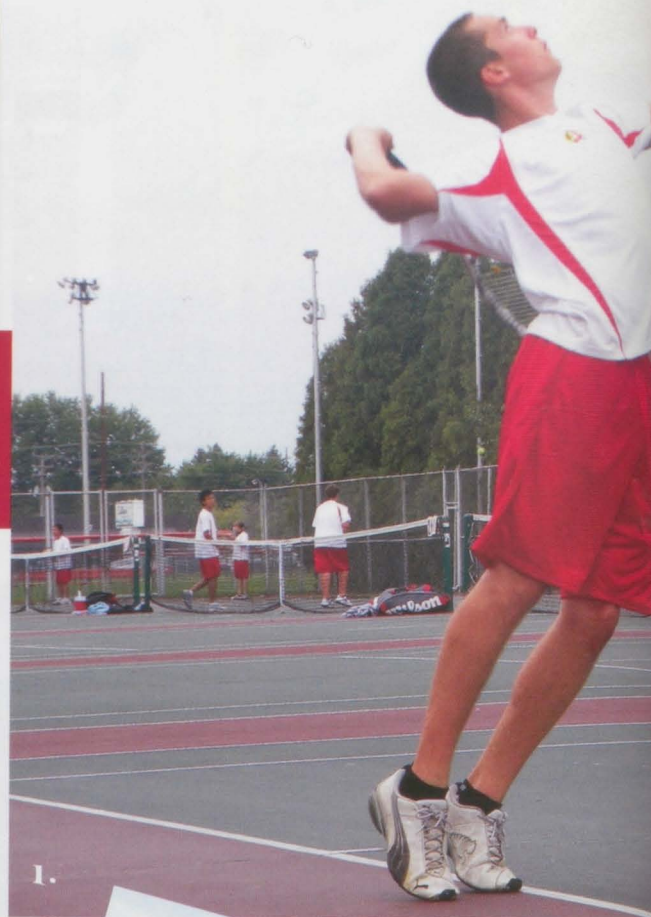

-Colton Currah '12

The Varsity Tennis played their hardest this year with two wins and eight losses and had two ties. They worked together and never gave up — a sign of true character.

Practices during the summer helped them with serves, backhands and other techniques. "After winning a tough match I usually think about why the match was so hard to win and what I can do next time to win my next match faster and easier," stated Jonathan Cooke. The coaches pushed their players to play to their best ability.

Many of the players enjoyed playing doubles more than singles because it helped them with teamwork and having a partner to keep them motivated. "I prefer to play doubles so when I'm down and under pressure I can trust my partner to lift me up," stated Andrew Kroetsch '14.

After a long tough match, the team liked to relax and think about how the next match or practice would go. "High character and personal achievement is as important as any win or loss record," stated Coach Harris.

2. After a tough match Timothy Wilson'12 walked off the court getting ready for another match.

3. Quick on his feet and ready to move Jonah Bell'12 got ready to backhand the ball to his opponent.

4. After a long day of tennis teammates Andy Chen'14 and Michael Netter'14 liked to sit and watch the other matches.

5. Volleying the ball back to the other team Andrew Kroetsch'14 made a backhand hit to keep the match going.

6. Lunging out of bounds Evan Jex '13 tried to keep the ball in play and keep the match going.

7. Waiting for the ball to be returned Colton Currah'12 stood in ready position as he tried to win the match.

FIRST COME, First Serve

Story By: Abby Torello Photos By: Tyler Debuf and Sandra Holloway

Mother Nature is always unpredictable. This season, the tennis girls had to deal with many game and practice cancellations because of all the rain we received, which really upset most of them. Hannah Britz 13' said she was a bit disappointed in all the cancellations but it made her appreciate the nicer days we had. When it was nice enough to be outside, the girls would practice their serves, forehands and backhands.

"In order to get what you've never had, you have to be willing to do what you've never done."

-Jazmine Brown '12

They would also scrimmage against another girl or two, depending on if they played doubles or singles. Most of the team preferred to play doubles because they got to play with another partner. However Kassandra Reeves 13' favored playing singles. "Singles challenged me a lot more because it was a faster paced way to play and I was responsible for my own faults and my own points" she stated. During every match, the girls would use what they learned in practice to win. When tough matches came around, Jazmine Brown 12' said it was important to not get down on yourself. "When you make a mistake in tennis, it is easy for the momentum of the game to change, so you always have to try and stay positive." This year, the girls' walked away with an overall record of 5-5-1.

1. Captain Kelsay Payton '11 gets ready to serve the ball to her teammate on the other side of the court while practicing serving.

2. While practicing for the junior varsity tennis match, Mackenzie Cook '12 gets ready for the ball to be served over the net to her.

3. A point for the team! As the ball is served to her, Kassandra Reeves '13 prepares to hit the ball back over to the other side and giving her team a point.

4. Let's get this practice started! Captain Brittany Banks '11 gets practice started by dancing and having a great time on the court after making a great serve.

5. At a home match, Jessi Walters '13 played her hardest and got ready to hit the ball after the opposing team served it over the net.

6. At a match, junior varsity player, Hannah Britz '13 ran backwards to get in the best position to hit the ball that was being served at her.

7. At a practice, Sarah Gordon '13 concentrated hard and tossed up the ball to improve her serve before the next tennis match.

REACHING Your Goals

Story By: Sheena Sersha

Running from one side of the field to the other to keep our opponents from getting a goal in the rain can be a challenge, especially when it is muddy. Another part of soccer that can be a challenge is maintaining the teamwork, said Molly Aguinaga '13. "The most challenging part of soccer is working together with your team, particularly when everyone isn't talking and making good passes. You have to remember not to get frustrated and keep a good, positive attitude." Our girls soccer team communicated with each other during the games and fixed their mistakes

"I've learned that you need to take a small step back while defending someone to wait for them to make a mistake."

-Taylor Smith '13

when they needed to so they could achieve success. The girls' tried to guide the ball into the goal cages at opposite ends of the field using different parts of their body to get this accomplished. When they got close to the goal, they had to decide whether they wanted to guide the ball into the goal or take a shot. The power of their soccer shot was not determined by their muscles, it was about having a good technique when they did it and having their teammates there to back them up. This year, the varsity team had a lot of teamwork. Shauna Kovach '11 stated "Our team loves our mates! We love talking about things before the game, during snack, and after the game to help us improve our strategies for the next game. Even during tough situations, we still did work."

1. At a varsity soccer game, Erica Oriel '14 ran and kicked the ball down the field to try to get a goal for the Big Reds girls soccer team.
2. Junior varsity player, Paige Falk '13 took the ball from a player on the opposing team, and dribbled the ball down the field.
3. Abby Torello '13 worked hard during the varsity soccer game, as she sprinted across the field to steal the ball away from the opposing team.
4. Varsity soccer player Kristin Dubay '11 guarded one of our teachers, Ms. Blay, in the student against staff varsity soccer game.
5. During a Varsity soccer game, Captain Sydney Jones '11 kicked the ball down the field to attempt to make a goal.
6. Junior varsity players Nicole Reilly '14 kicked the ball down the field while teammate Sarah Macumber '14 ran along side.
7. Varsity player Molly Aguinaga '13 defended a player from the opposing team to stop them from getting closer to the net.

KICK N' it up

Photos By: Sandra Holloway

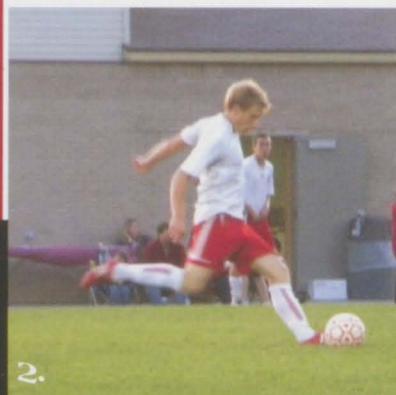

"Balls out!" The boys Varsity soccer team chanted as they got ready for their next game. As tradition, the boys always had a chant before each game to get them pumped up. As they huddled together, they shouted what most sports teams at Port Huron High chant: "Big Reds" three times while clapping. When they were all pumped up and ready to win, they crowded together in the middle of the field and had a one on one chat with the team. "Do great, play hard, keep your head up and be ready to kick some butt!" Many sports have the same key

"Even though it was a rough season, we're looking forward to improving for next season."

-Justin Bonney '13 and Benjamin Kruse '13

concept which is working hard on and off the field but also keeping your head in the game at all times. But the main key for soccer is playing smart during the game. "In the end, even though we didn't win a lot of games, we all developed individually. We're preparing for next year so we can do better," said mid-fielder Jordan Zuehlke '13. Team work is and always will be the main ingredient to many sports. Every coach looks for team work on and off the field making it the most important part of sports. During the summer of 2011, the team conditioned and worked on a lot of drills to boost their skills so that they were pumped and ready to face the obstacles of soccer against their opponents this school year. Many boys had their own strategies to get ready before each game. Christopher Webb '14 said, "I stretch more than many of the boys do before each game, so I know that I'm ready before I get out there." Every strategy is one of a kind. These boys worked very hard to earn their spot out on the field, and it showed at the end of the season.

1. Keeping the ball in control, Benjamin Shinavier '14, uses his skill called heading to try and keep the opponents from getting the ball during the game against St. Clair.

2. Racing to the ball with all of his might, Brandon Huntoon '12, kicks the ball like it's nothing, down the field to attempt to make a goal against St. Clair.

3. Stealing the ball away, varsity player Jeremy Conway '13, uses his skills to take the ball out of the other opponents pathway against St. Clair.

4. Getting ready to blast the ball, junior varsity player Raymond McMillion '13, passes the ball to another teammate to keep it away from the teams opponents.

5. In the air, varsity player Nathan Wilkinson '12, fights to kick the ball out and away from the opponents of St. Clair as another teammate gets the ball.

6. Dribbling the ball to get away from the opponents, Josh Paul '14, runs as fast as he can down the field to make a goal into the side of St. Clair.

7. Helping the teammates, Jeremy Kasik '14, kicks back his arms and throws the ball back into the field to another teammate after a goal. Getting back into the game.

LIFT IT UP, and Ride it down!

Story By: Nichole Ransberger & Mackenzie Carter. Photos by: Yearbook Staff.

The Big Reds Lacrosse season started off strong this year. The team was full of intense action from the start of each game where they would begin with a face-off, to the check-ups and clearings, all the way to the end of each of the quarters. Our boys put in a lot of time and effort the whole season. Junior Tim Wilson's favorite position to play in lacrosse was defense because he had more chances to stop goals— which gave his teammates better chances to get goals. Lacrosse is one of the few sports that has a longer season than most. They have 19 meets from the time they start to the time they finish.

"Lacrosse had a great season this past year due to our outstanding offense and God-like defense."

-Cody Desero '12

The equestrian team at Port Huron High is a horse back riding team. The team comes from all schools in district 12 to compete for the district title. There are 4 divisions and those divisions are the A division consisting of 11 to 15 riders, division B consisting of 7 to 10 riders, division C consisting of 3 to 6 riders, and division D consisting of 1 to 2 riders. Each division compete in a number of classes trying to collect points to beat all of their division to go on to regionals. This year the Port Huron High Big Reds competed as a division C team with 5 riders; Kelsey Kemp '12 riding Edward, Gina Fuga '12 riding Wango Tango and Rico Suave, Meghan Ski '13 riding Jo-Jo and Whisky, Oda Sandager '12 riding Blue, and Melissa Lash '13 riding Jonnie. They competed at districts and won their division. They went on to regionals with the hopes of making it to states.

A Great Course

What phenomenal seasons the girls and boys golf teams had this year! The girls had a very successful year, winning 9 meets and only losing 1. They were narrowly defeated by L'Anse Creuse North, but played them in the following game and crushed them by 17 strokes. The team played hard and placed 5th at regional. They were also appointed the title Blue Division Champs. Throughout the season Anna Burdick '12 earned the title MAC Blue Champion of the week and MAC Blue MVP. Sophomore Sarah Baker and junior Caitlyn Sanderson were awarded MAC Blue ALL conference. To earn all these accomplishments, the girls practiced two times a week along with two meets per week.

"I have tried to become a better player and I've realized that it's all about having fun and beating your course!"

-Hannah Winkler '14

The boys also played well, winning 5 games and only losing 4. MAC Blue Division Tournament Champions is what you can call these boys. They beat the opposing teams in this tournament with a score of 330. Senior Nicholas Pitre qualified for 2011 regional. Connor Palmateer '11 received the award of the lowest tournament score of the season. Our boy's golf team was coached by Ronald Horne and Daniel Perkins. Congratulations to both teams on their accomplishments!

Practices were held at Fore Lakes Golf Course. There were a variety of holes throughout the course and lots of water. Senior Garrick Hunger has been playing for about 7 years. His favorite hole at Fore Lakes is hole 4. This is his favorite hole because it's a 195 yard, par 3, over water, with bunkers on the left and right sides of the fairway. Hole 12 was a favorite of junior Caitlyn Sanderson because she could consistently score a birdie on this hole. The 12 member boy's team supported and cheered each other on through victory and loss. Garrick '11 got everyone motivated by saying, "Try to get that one great shot to get you back into the flow of things."

1. Junior Caitlyn Sanderson prepares to tee off at their home course, Fore Lakes. Making sure that your form is perfect before you swing is very important to being a successful golfer.

2. Haley Werth '13 tees off with her driver. This is Haley's third year on Port Huron girl's golf team. After all these seasons she has become a very experienced golfer.

3. Sarah Baker '14 supports her sister Courtney Baker '12 as she putts on the 9th hole of their home Fore Lakes Golf Course.

4. The team gets together to discuss how their meet went earlier in the day. Big Reds often gather together to determine how they can improve their skills.

5. Sophomore Sarah Baker strives to drive the ball across the green. In order to get a good result, she has to stay very focused, demonstrating good concentration.

6. Samantha Harris '12 practices her swing right before she takes the real shot at the hole. It is crucial to take a practice swing before your shot so you can determine where you want the ball to go.

ACROSS THE Country

"It's a great way to get into shape, even if you don't like running."

-Matthew Enger '13

That love of the wind blowing through their hair could be the reason why every member of the cross country team decides to push themselves through every step of 5,000 meters of grueling running. Perhaps it was listening to your opponents shorts as they desperately try to catch up to you that keeps these warriors going.

For Brendan Conard '15, he said it was the feeling of accomplishment to see everyone behind him as he ran away with the lead. Madeline Wilkonson '14 said she loved the continuous competition from the various schools the team faced throughout the cross-country season.

Whatever the reason, the Port Huron High Boys and Girls Cross Country teams pushed themselves to come out victorious in many of the 16 invitationals and meets they participated in during the 2011-2012 season.

Coach Laurel Groner gave the girls' team the pep talks they needed to make it through the pains and strains of every run while Mike Pionk coached the boys' team through their season.

THIS IS HOW We Do It!

"In order to win,
you have to learn how to lose."

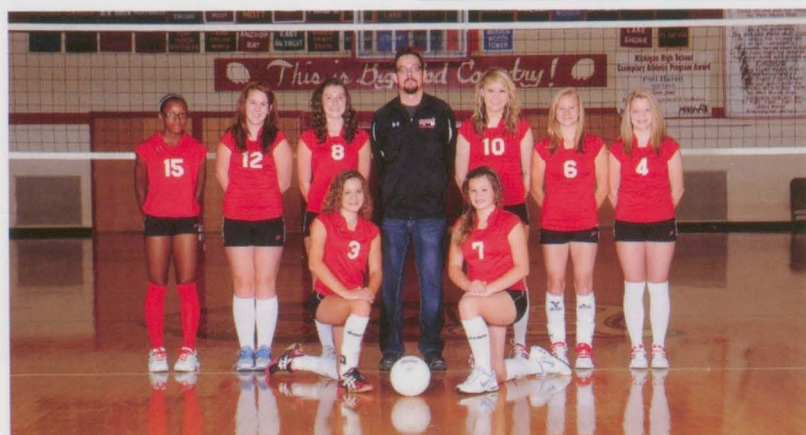

-Caitlynn Kotzke '14

"Play together. Play to win. Play Big Red volleyball." That was what Coach Johnson told her team before going out to play every game. Something the team did to shake off mistakes was write "Next play" on every person's shoe so they could look down and see it while they played. After a game against Chippewa Valley, sophomore Caitlyn Heath said, "We had a great win tonight, and we really stepped it up with the team work."

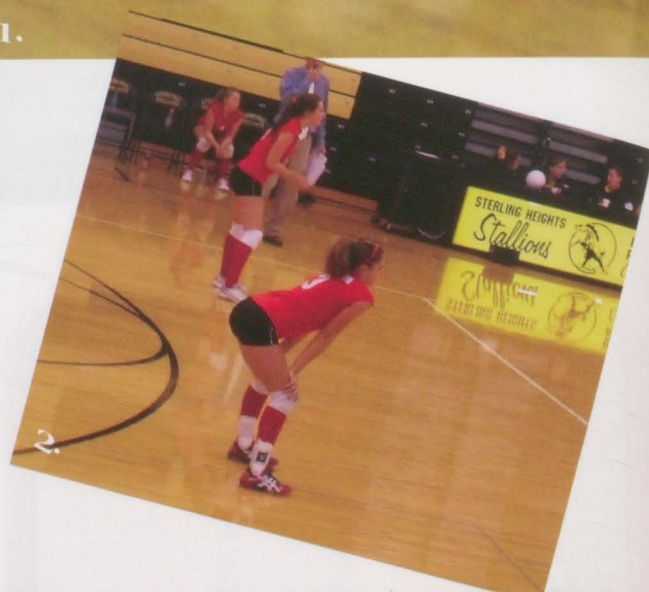

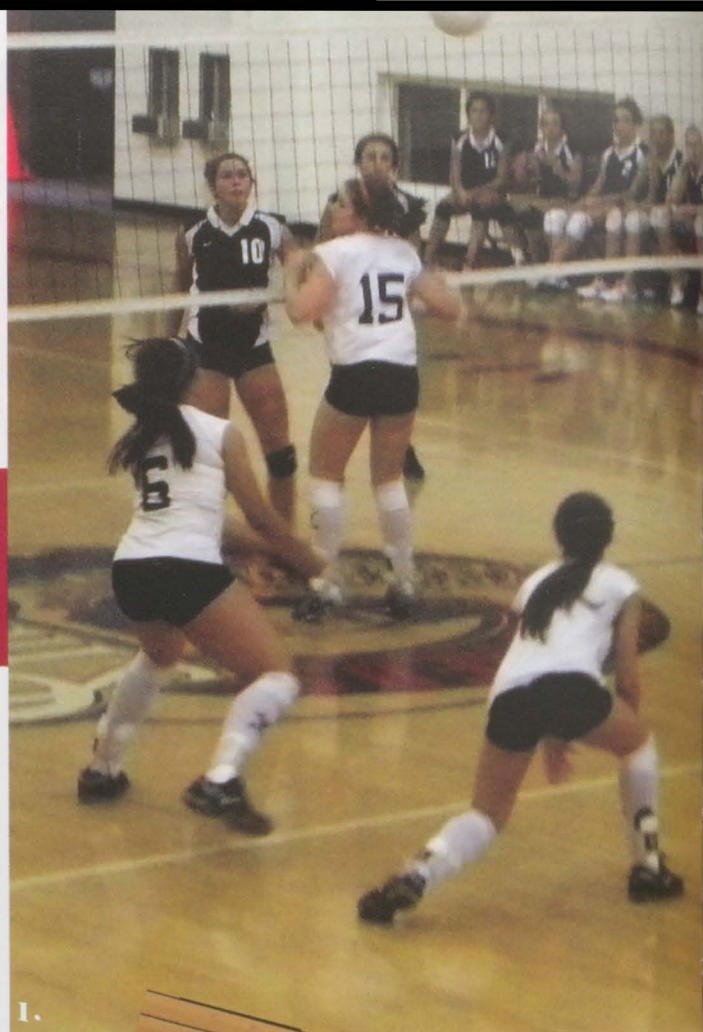

During their 2-1/2 hour practices, the team went over bumping, setting, and spiking. They did drills to help them to be more successful. "Playing makes the practices worth it," Sophomore Vaughn Springer said. The freshmen and junior varsity teams often worked together during practices. "We really try to have as much fun as we can during practices, to make it more interesting," Sophomore Makenzie Klein said. To be successful they had to learn to work together as a team, after all playing as a team is part of the game. "Good players keep trying to get something until they get it right," Sophomore Christa Wede said.

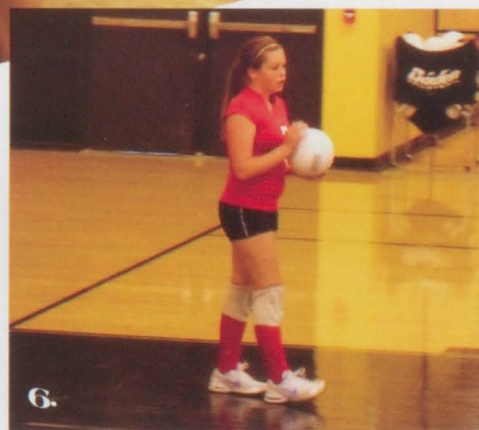

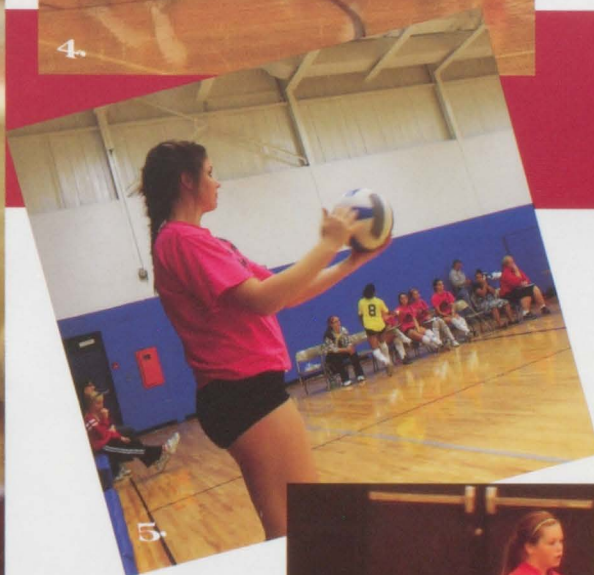

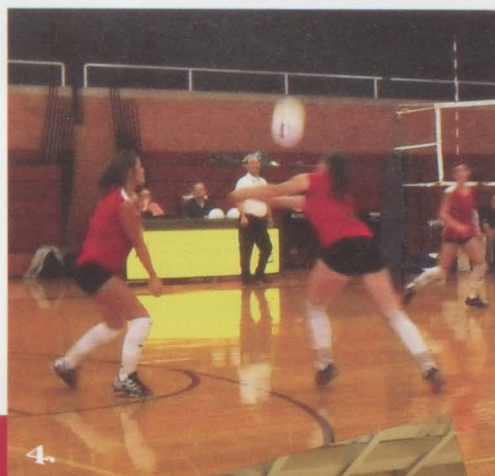

The freshman team was pumped after beating the cross town rival Northern. "We played together, and were up and happy the whole game," said Freshman Muranda Dore. "It really boosted our self esteem and made us believe we could beat anybody," said Mariah Koester '15. It was one of their favorite games throughout the season some of the girls on the team said. "We had great teamwork, the team really worked well together" Savannah Ahrens '15 said.

-Amanda Goodwin '12

The crowd was ecstatic when the Varsity volleyball team beat our school rivals, the Port Huron Northern Huskies. Everyone came to the game to support the girls, and watch the Big Reds get another victory. "Beating Northern my senior year was great," said Maeghan Murphy, '12. "Our team really wanted it."

The Varsity volleyball team pulled together to beat their cross town rivals. Arica-Rae Apsey '13 said "Beating Northern was the best part of my season. We worked hard all season to win that game."

Sophomore Melissa Harvill said it was her teammates who made the year so great. "The best part of being on Varsity is the girls," she said. "They will always keep your head up and help you throughout the game. They're great!" Molly Aguinaga '13 agreed. "The second we went on the court to play all drama was forgotten, everyone got along to win the game."

The team became MAC. champ's this year. Amanda Goodwin '12 said, "Being MAC. champs was one of the best moments of my season, it felt great because we worked so hard. All of the long practice's and conditioning paid off." Not only were the players excited, the crowd was too. Everyone was so proud of the teams accomplishments, and hope next season will be just as great.

CHEERLEADERS Pump Them Up!

Story By: Katelyn Kinzel & Haley Kielbas

Photos By: Katelyn Kinzel, Haley Kielbas & Cheyenne Knight

What's Big Red football you ask? PHHS football is a roaring crowd...a team of talented football players...and some loud and exciting cheerleaders! You can always count on these girls to get the crowd involved and pumped for our team. To be an excellent cheerleader you must have strength, be loud, and participate as part of the squad.

When asked what skills you must have to be a successful cheerleader, Samantha Phillips '13 said, "You must be willing to try your absolute hardest and strive to never give up." Although they make it look easy, being a Big Red

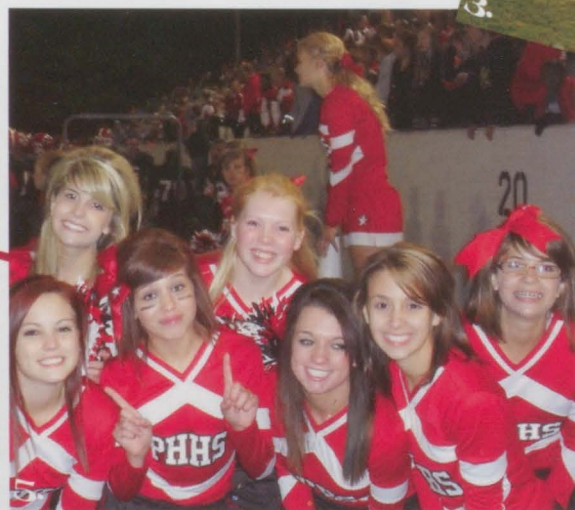

"No matter who's on the team we always have fun and a great season."

-Ashlynn Atkinson '13

cheerleader takes lots of hard work. The girls practiced four days a week for two and a half hours. "We work until we get it right, and we only keep improving" stated Shelby Hawkins '14.

The varsity team went into playoffs this year. This meant that the varsity cheerleaders had an extended season full of excitement and suspense. The girls worked hard to get the boy's pumped and win almost every game that they played. Ashley Pratt '14 loved being a varsity cheerleader because of the spirit involvement and getting the tribe and parents pumped up. This season was the first in a long time for the boys to go into playoffs. The girls gave their all and put everything on the line as they led the team to victory.

3. Kasey Forton '15 leads the crowd, the Tribe and her team in their most popular freshmen cheer "Roll it, shake it, come on team lets take it"
4. The freshmen team sets down their pom-poms for a cheer as the football players defeat L' Anse Creuse. This was a major win for our Big Red team.
5. All the senior varsity cheerleaders pause from cheering at one of their Friday night games to take a picture. Every year all the varsity seniors assemble to take one of their last group pictures on the Big Red squad.
6. Varsity cheerleaders rooted for the Big Reds as they won their home game against the undefeated Eisenhower Eagles. It was a nice and sunny day for the girls to cheer on our boys.
7. Michele Niehaus '12 stunts an extension lib while supported by teammates Alexandria Bramer '12, Karlie Graham '14, and Christiana Elling '13.

Throughout the 2011-2012 season, both Junior Varsity and Freshmen football teams showed great improvement. They continued to improve themselves to achieve their ultimate goal - to join Varsity. Although there is no such thing as a perfect season, JV with a record of 4-4-1 and freshmen 6-2-1, played their hearts out in an effort to have a better season than the previous year. "We had a decent season, but we'll do better next year," said Zachary Pailing '14.

"We had a great season, we did our best, and I hope that it continues on to junior varsity"

-Brandon Lum '15

During their practices, JV and freshmen players separated into individual groups and practiced their positions. Although their practices were separated and had two different practice times, all the levels of football still practiced the same way. Linemen pushed the sled, worked on their stances, and fired off the ball. Linebackers ran the ball through hitting drills, perfecting their ability to take a hit without fumbling the ball, while the quarterback warmed up by throwing passes to receivers as they practiced running their routes to catch the ball.

After all the players ran their positions, each team ran their own type of conditioning. During the JV huddle which happened after conditioning, Defensive Coordinator C.J Wendell always stated, "As long as you don't do anything stupid, and do your responsibility, we can't be beat!"

1. Freshmen Football players are excited and ready for their game against our Cross Town Rivals Northern. They begin by getting set and exploding off the ball.
2. Junior Varsity Football linemen push their enemy five yards followed by Quarterback Cory Wargo '14 and Linebacker Nicholas Vani '14 for a first down.
3. Freshmen celebrate their plays as they dominated Northern in the PH vs. PHN game, the players did their best and their score reflected it, 28-6.
4. Nicholas Vani '14 sprints evading the Northern safety for 40 yards to take Big Reds touchdown in the first quarter to bring the team ahead 21-7.
5. Freshmen linemen work hard and block to their assignment while giving the quarterback time to hand off the ball.
6. Junior varsity sets up on the line for a play on Northern called freezno. It's a surprise play that is done in an attempt to get the other team to jump off sides.

MAKING Headlines!

Story By: Chris Webb & Michael Horsey

Perhaps it's the roar of the crowd that gets them pumped up every Friday night. Maybe it's the fact that no matter where they go they'll always know that someone will be there representing them in red and white screaming "Let's go Big Reds".

For the Big Red varsity football team, they thrived off that energy throughout the whole season. That energy got them to earn an 8-1 record, bringing one of the most memorable football seasons to Port Huron High School.

One of our greatest victories was against our cross-town rival the Port Huron Northern Huskies, but for our glorified varsity team this was more than just a game, this was the game of the season, beating our rival.

Regardless of the streak of wins the varsity football team went through, or the season ending loss they endured, between the homecoming win over 4th ranked Grosse Pointe South. Then our double overtime win over Eisenhower, between winning the MAC Blue title, and defeating our cross-town rival. The 2012 season will undoubtedly go down in our high school's list of most memorable seasons in sports...perhaps...the most memorable of them all.

PUMPING Some Steel

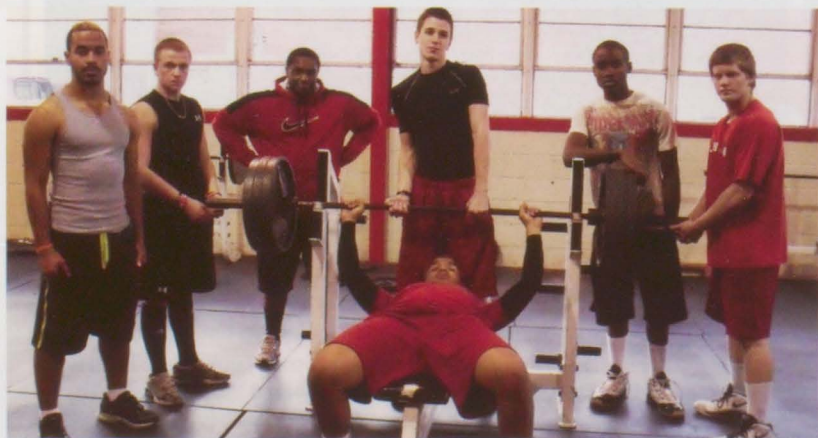

"Powerlifting is a great way to build muscle and stay in shape for football"

Story By: Christopher Holdburg Photos By: Shianna Fenner and Christopher Holdburg

Powerlifting is an intense competition that requires a lot of dedication and hard work. In its first year at PH, Powerlifting took on advanced lifting students on varsity and junior varsity squads to compete in powerlifting competitions. In competition participants are not only scored on how much weight they can lift but on their form and technique.

In a Powerlifting Competition, competitors were required to do three lifts Bench, Squat, and DeadLift. Each lift had to be done three different times, for a total of nine lifts. Competitors also had to increase weight each time they competed. The goal of the Port Huron High Powerlifting team wasn't just to increase in weight and lift the most weight they could, but also to have the best form. Powerlifting is a lot of hard work, but when you need someone to have your back you can ask a powerlifter.

In Baseball three strikes and your out, but in Bowling three strikes and you have... a turkey? Yes you heard me right I said turkey! A turkey in bowling is three strikes in a row. A strike in bowling is when you roll the ball down the lane and hit all the pins of the first try. Many bowlers have certain techniques like rolling the ball over the middle arrow or trying to put spin on the ball.

PHHS bowler Bradley Stone '12 bowled a perfect 300 game.

HOCKEY

Ice That Puck

Story By: Katelyn Kinzel & Haley Kielbas Photos By: Katelyn Kinzel

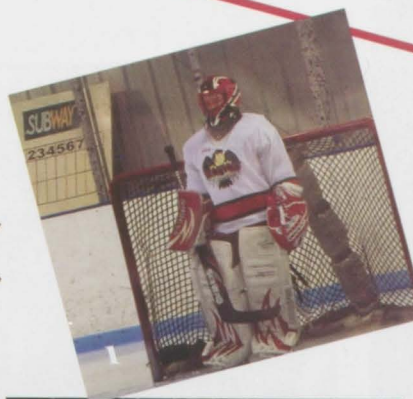

Got hockey? These boys do. Never giving up, the boys placed in the ranking with a record of five wins and eighteen loses. Freshmen Brendan Conard stated, "I met a lot of new players this season and I learned a lot about playing hockey." This year's hockey team was fresh and eager to gain knowledge about the game of hockey. With only a few seniors on the team, they all faced the difficult challenge of playing together as one. The captains in charge of the team were Justin Hansen '12, King Thomason '12, and Austin Fetterly '11. Continue to improve, boys!

"Even though we didn't end with the best record, we still played our hardest and with dedication. We played each game as if it was our last."

Logan Ballor '14

"Let's go Icehawks!" screams the fans. The Lady Icehawks are unstoppable. With an outstanding record of ten wins and only two losses, they are the team to beat. Breanna Hansen '14 says, "The Lady Icehawks play very well together and this is their best season in a long time." She also states, "I am proud of my team and how far they've come." This year's memorable season was led by senior captain Courtney Harris. The girls practiced five days a week (with the exception of game days). Half of their time practicing was spent at Glacier Pointe Ice Complex improving their hockey skills. The other half was dedicated to building muscle at the local gym. Demonstrating true hard work and dedication, the team went on to defeat the #1 ranked team in their division, Cranbrook.

So you want to know how to wrestle? Wrestling isn't just being strong physically; you also have to be strong mentally. Keeping positive thoughts in your mind while going head to head with your opponent is the confidence you need to succeed. Having good balance helps too. There are many different techniques to get your opponent down, such as ankle pick, single-leg take down and double-leg take down.

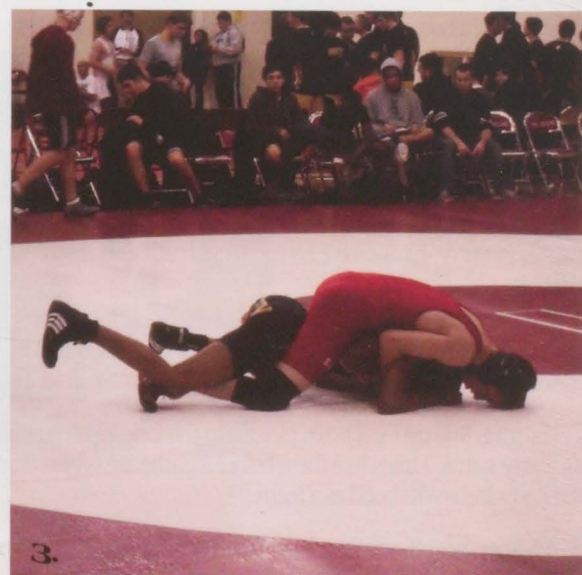

This year weight class rules weren't as strict as other years but the boys still had to work to keep their weight under control so they stayed in their approximate weight class. Practice for wrestling was a series of different exercises like jump-roping, wheel barrels, and push-ups/sit-ups, along with running which was their main source of conditioning and weight loss. The reason wrestlers have to be so careful about what they eat and how much weigh, is that dependening on their weight, that is what weight class they would wrestle in.

In wrestling being strong physically doesn't mean you're going to win the match, the winner of the match will be the most conditioned and healthy. Nicholas Rosales, a sophomore on the varsity team said, "As long as you don't give up you're a winner."

SPEAK WORDS Of Kindness

Story By: Cheyenne Knight & Melissa Harvill Photos By: Jamie Walker

Some people say cheerleading isn't a sport, but how many other sports involve lifting someone above your head, throwing them up in the air, and catching them? Cheerleaders do conditioning and practice for hours at a time. There is blood, sweat, and tears put into cheerleading as well as many abdominal workouts and plenty of running.

Port Huron High School's winter cheerleading team not only cheered at the boys' basketball games, but the varsity cheerleading team also had competitions with numerous schools statewide. The varsity cheerleaders practiced many hours in order to perfect their routines before each competition. Junior varsity had one competition during the 2012 season. Their competitions were all around the state of Michigan. All three Winter Cheer teams worked hard to perfect their routines.

The cheerleaders did many stunts such as the basket toss, lib, mountain climbers, and many more. "A true athlete should have character, not be one. Smile, sparkle, shine gets em' everytime," says sophomore Megan Roberson. When the girls compete, the judges always look for chemistry, attitude, spirit and passion within their cheering. The girls prepare everyday for their competitions. Going over every routine and their stunts working hard but also having a fun practice together is what brings a good team together. "Cheerleading is a lot of work. My girls work hard everyday. I'm so grateful for my team. They're my little sisters. We laugh, we cry, we fight but at the end of the day, our uniforms bring us into a family." Says Alysia Thomes '14. Most of the girls are great friends and more like family. That's what makes a great team, when they compete together, that's what the judges also look for is team work and a lot of it. They all have fun together.

1. Samantha Phillips '13, Deanna Sorrell '12, Christiana Elling '13, and Shelby Hawkins '14 take part in round one with smiling faces.

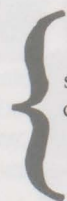

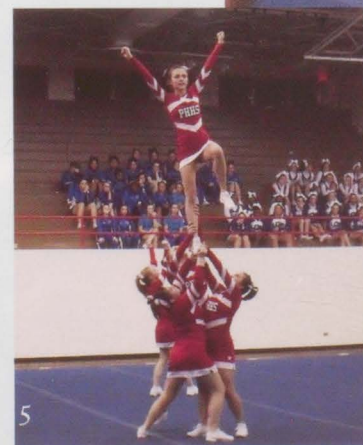

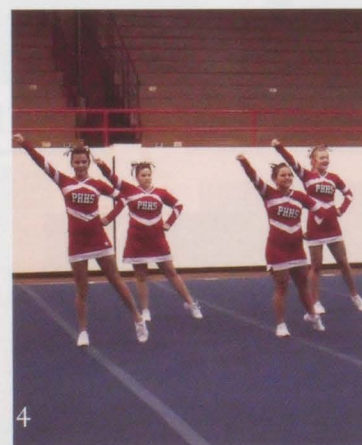

2. The cheerleaders happily get ready for round one. The first round mostly consists of jumps and heel stretches.

3. Port Huron High School's JV cheerleading team keep cheery faces as they do their switch splits in round 2.

4. Varstiy Cheerleaders juniors Cheyenne Comeau and Christiana Elling, senior Alexa Bramer, and sophomore Karly Graham cheer in round 2 in a competition.

5. Jessica Bartee '13 is lifted into a lib by her stunt group, Karlie Graham '14, Christiana Elling '13, and Alexandria Bramer '12.

6. As junior Alysia Thomes, and freshman Erika Shreeve are lifted into a box out, they stay strong and show pride in what they do.

"We joke around like sisters, but when it comes down to being serious, we get the job done."

GET YOUR HEAD In The Game!

Sophomore, Amber Green when asked how your team reacts to you when you make a mistake, said "When you make a mistake I love how my team is always there to bring me up and not let me get down on myself, it helps a lot in game situations." No matter how big or small the mistake, the girls always stuck together and gave encouragement to keep the players motivated.

"The girls on my team always kept me motivated. No matter how bad I played they were always there to give me some type of encouragement that made me do better next time."

Caitlyn Heath '14

"I love the feeling of confidence I get from knowing that my team and coaches believe in me, it allows me to play to my best potential" said sophomore Cailynn Kotzke. The girls were there for each other through the good and the bad of everything, practices were hard and tiring, and sophomore Jalynn Diggins said, "You have to expect things of yourself before you can do them." Players had to be dedicated to basketball and show up to all the practices and be willing to work hard. They had to show motivation and dedication on and off the court. Keeping up their grades was a necessity during the season, otherwise they could not play, and so was keeping a good attitude with themselves and their other team mates.

Hoop It Up!

Story and Photos By: Allison Hudy and Teighlor Morris

"The girls on my team are amazing," said senior Maeghan Murphy. "No matter how bad you are playing, they are always right there to slap your hand and give you some type of encouragement. I could not ask for better teammates."

The Big Reds Girls Varsity Basketball team stuck together through their wins and losses, from one end of the court to the other. The girls always kept their heads up and supported each teammate.

"When I made varsity I was so excited," said freshman Jordin Collier. "The girls were very welcoming, and even though I am a freshman they treated me like I had been playing with them forever."

The team practiced hard for hours nearly every day to improve their skills. Their goal was to help each other work to the best potential they could. When asked what she liked about practices, senior Jade Rhone said, "Practices are worth every minute in games because when it comes down to it, we needed all the practice we could get to be the best we could be."

Coach Rosenau said, "The 2011-12 girls varsity basketball team is talented and driven to succeed. Most importantly though, they are good students."

THROUGH the Hoop

Story By: Katelyn Adamick and Karlie Graham Photos By: Yearbook Staff

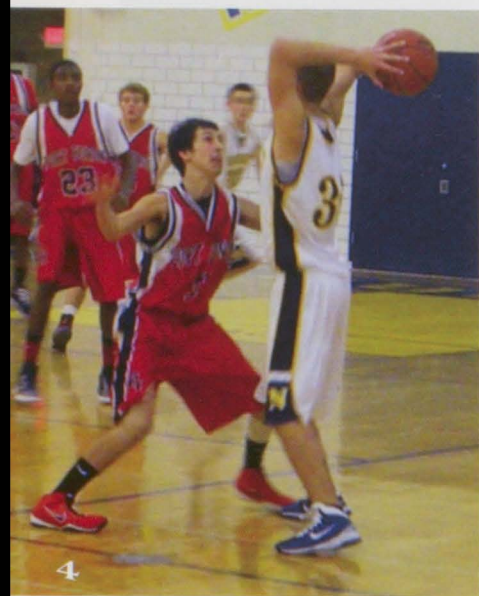

Practicing hard and playing their hardest, that's what the junior varsity and freshman basketball players did this season. The junior varsity team had 7 wins and 11 losses this season. They practiced Monday through Friday for two hours, playing scrimmages and working on free throws. The hard work and great times helped them to become the best team they could be, and left them with great memories. William Lemon '14 explained his favorite memory of the season was when, "we played Northern in a tournament and smashed them!" Some of the players say their favorite part about basketball was being able to play with their friends and just playing a sport that they love.

"I play to win, whether it's during practice or a real game, and I will not let anything get in the way of my competitive enthusiasm to win with my teammates."

Anthony Dobson '14

In basketball, every position played is equally important to the game because a team couldn't function without every player. Basketball takes a lot of skills you need to be able to catch, dribble, speed and have the drive to want to play and work hard. Both teams played hard this season and the freshman team won the Ed Peltz Tournament at Port Huron Northern. Anthony Dobson '14 stated, "the feeling when the team is playing together and is having fun is great. The best part is winning."

"To be able to get the 'W', we have to play hard, play smart, and play together. Go hard or go home."

Mason Wesley '13 and Everett Boone '13

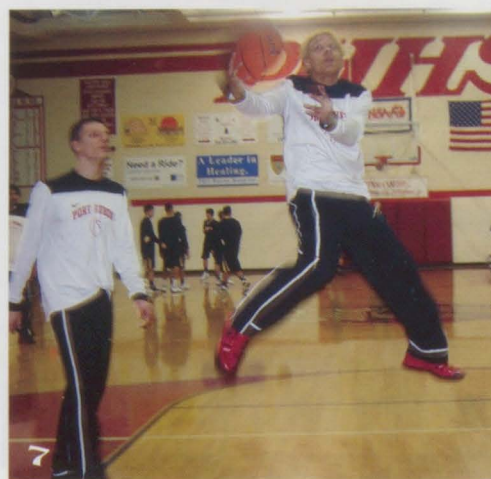

"The difference between a good shot and a bad shot is if it goes in or not" Winslow Chapman '12 said. Even though that is apparent, it is also very true in the game of basketball. Basketball is all about skill and how the player takes their shot. Without a good shot, there would be no other options to the basket if it was guarded. With the basket guarded, the choice is between shooting or finding another way to score. Senior Alexander Zmolick quoted "You miss 100% of the shots you don't take." With that said, most of the players decide to take the chance and shoot the ball. The majority of the team can agree with Everett Boone '13 and Mason Wesley '13 and how they believe that basketball requires hard work, dedication, and focus on and off the court. The boys showed all three of these aspects on the court and also off the court as well. They also gave their all everyday after school and sometimes before school during their practices where they would work on shooting, passing, dribbling, and perfecting their plays. Even at the varsity level, the boys needed to continuously work on their skills in order to maintain them. The biggest accomplishment this season was beating our rival Northern twice; once in the Holiday Tournament hosted by Northern every year and once at home by the score of 70-59. "I was happy and proud when we won the Holiday Tournament because we played through aversion and pulled together to win." said Junior Mark Chapman.

ON THE EDGE was the 107 volume of Port Huron High School's yearbook, The Student. It was produced by 31 students in Ms. Kinnee's Yearbook class.

Five hundred books were made, each containing 200 full-color pages. All photos – with the exception of sports team photos, the senior class photo, the BRMM group picture and student portraits – were taken by PH students with digital cameras.

The cover is a glossed custom lithograph. It was designed by Josten's Yearbook Avenue Designer. All page designs were created using Josten's templates and tweaked to fit the year's theme by senior Sandra Holloway and junior Cassie Smith.

The fonts used were Ghostwriter and Earthquake for the headlines and Good Name for the story and captions. The book was printed by Jostens in Topeka, Kansas. The trim size is 8.5 by 11, with 80 pound paper stock.

Josten's Yearbook Avenue Designer was used to make this book. It allowed the yearbook staffers to design and work on their spreads anywhere with Internet access.

The Student is a member of the National Scholastic, American Scholastic and Michigan Interscholastic Press Associations.

In 2012 The Student yearbook staff was advised by Ms. Trish Kinnee who has been with PH since 2003. She completed her student teaching at PHHS in 2002 with Mrs. Zauner, who was the yearbook adviser for more than 25 years.

Letters From the EDITORS

With a new advisor, new classmates and a new yearbook room, it really put us all "On The Edge." Even with all the drama, deadlines, late nights, drama and being locked in "the Closet," we had a very crazy, but great year. I have to give thanks to all the yearbook students who helped make this book great. And special thanks to my family for putting up with my complaining and using the computer ALL the time. And a very, very special thanks to my special friends, my co-editor Kassi, our photographer Jamie and the Do-It-All-Guy – Chris Holdburg. So we hope in 20 years when you look back at this yearbook, you would still love it, no matter how out of style your clothes are or how your hair looks.

Sandra Holloway

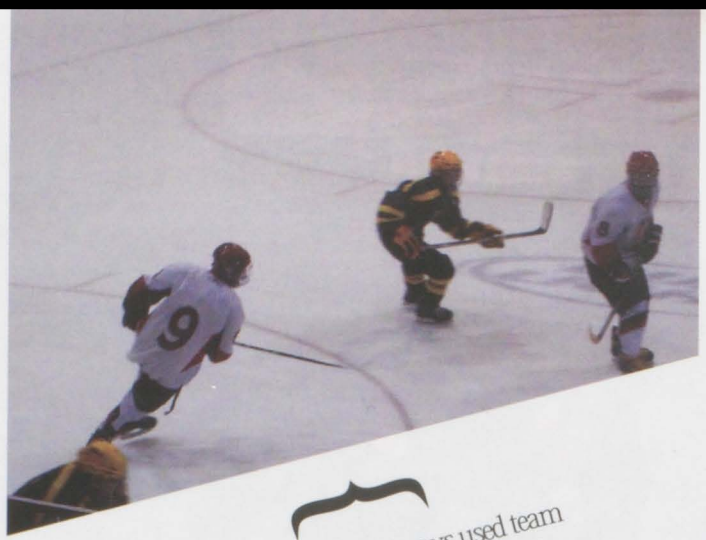

Taking on the title of Co-Editor in only my second year of yearbook has been quite a challenge, but one I am certainly thankful for.

Working on the yearbook has given me many new opportunities like seeing the school in a new light, working with the new advisor, Ms. Kinnee, and having to teach all the incoming sophomores. Next year is going to be tough without my faithful co-editor Sandra, but it's another challenge I'm ready to take head on for my senior year.

Cassie Smith

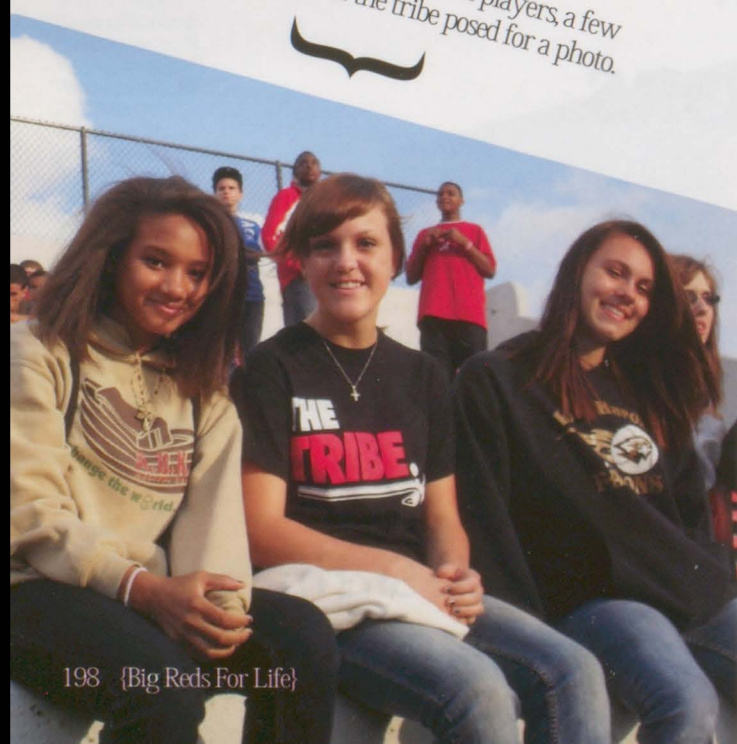

Helping out the Class of 2015 some students from the senior class signed up to be Big Red Wave mentors.

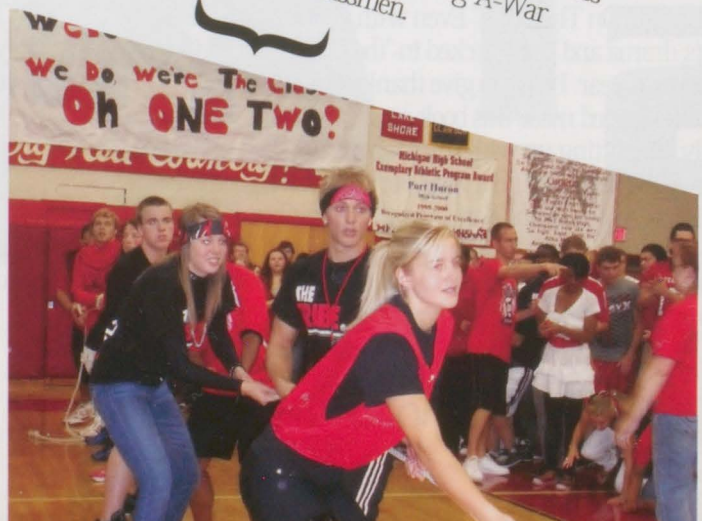

The boys hockey team always used team work, allowing them to play their best.

We will Always be BIG REDS!

Supporting our football players, a few members of the tribe posed for a photo.

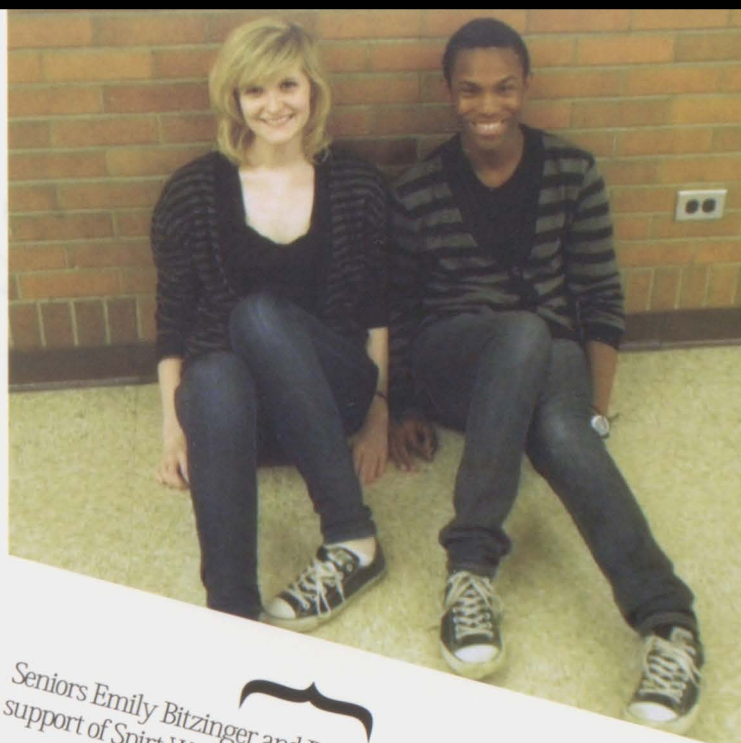

During the Games Assembly, the senior class tried their hardest to win at Tug-A-War against the underclassmen.

Every class knows that fundraisers are a big deal, especially around the Holidays!

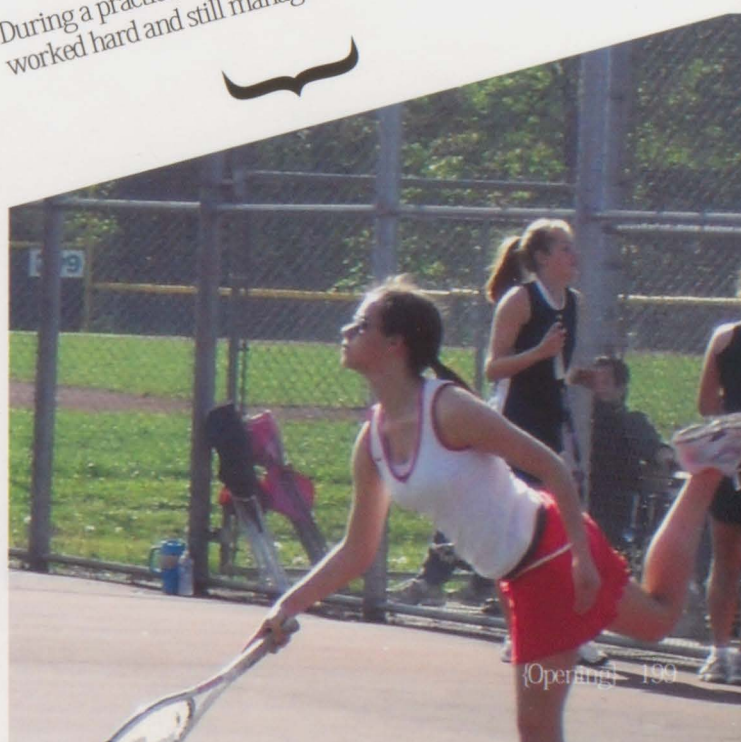

Seniors Emily Bitzinger and Ryon Burrell show their support of Spirit Week by dressing up for Twin Day.

With the start of a great year comes the end of an amazing journey. Even with all the unexpected problems that came to our students this year, everyone worked together to get by. The senior class thought of fundraiser after fundraiser to get enough money for their prom and all night party. While in the mean time the juniors and sophomores prepared for the ACTs and the PLAN. And finally the freshmen spent their time getting adjusted to the ways of high school life. Even though all the classes were busy doing their own thing, classes never failed to come together to support their favorite teams and celebrate the year. Congratulations students for creating another amazing year at Port Huron High.

During the Winter Band Concert, senior Joshua Kenny played his saxophone solo.

During a practice, every member of the girls tennis team worked hard and still managed to look very graceful.

Best Wishes from your Yearbook Staff!
